All 3 missing seafarers dead

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

WAR WATCH

ALL three Indian seafarers who had been reported missing after the US attack on the Palau-flagged tanker MT Settebello off the coast of Oman have been confirmed dead, Union Minister for Ports, Shipping and Waterways Sarbananda Sonowal said on Thursday.

The tanker, carrying 24 Indian crew members, was struck by the US military earlier this week, triggering a search-and-rescue operation involving Indian and Omani authorities.

In a post on X, Sonowal described the development as "deeply unfortunate", confirming that the three crew members initially reported missing had lost their lives. "Sadly, three Indian seafarers initially reported missing are now confirmed dead after two bodies were recovered," the minister said.

Calling the deaths a "profound loss to our maritime family", Sonowal said the government stood firmly with the bereaved families and would give all necessary assistance.

The minister added that officials had been instructed to facilitate the immediate repatriation of the 21 rescued crew members and ensure the swift return of the deceased sailors' mortal remains.

On Wednesday, India strongly condemned the attack and formally lodged a protest with the US by summoning Jason Meeks, the US Chargé d'Affaires in New Delhi.

Meanwhile, crew members of a Guinea-Bissau-flagged vessel identified as MT Jalveer, carrying 20 Indians, were evacuated on Thursday after the vessel came under attack off an Oman port.

HC poser on Bengal LoP recognition

SUBHENDU MAITI @ New Delhi

THE Calcutta High Court on Thursday questioned the legality of West Bengal Assembly speaker Rathindranath Bose's decision to recognise rebel Trinamool Congress MLA Ritabrata Banerjee as leader of the Opposition (LoP) without the consent of the TMC.

Justice Krishna Rao raised the question while hearing a plea against the Speaker's decision to recognise Banerjee as LoP and Akhruzzman, another rebel MLA, the Chief Whip at a time when the party leadership had already expelled the former.

Veteran MLA Sobhandeb Chattopadhyay from Ballygunj in Kolkata, who was selected by the party leadership as the LoP in the House, moved the High Court on 8 June challenging the Speaker's decision.

Trinamool MP and senior lawyer Kalyan Bandyopadhyay, appearing for petitioners, submitted that the move hits the basic structure of the Constitution.

Tap youth power for growth: PM

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday asked states to tap into India's 70-crore youth population and convert this unique demographic dividend into a development dividend for the country's progress.

"Creating the right ecosystem for our youth through quality education, demand-driven skilling and employment opportunities must remain a priority. Empowered youth will be the driving force behind our journey towards," he said while chairing the 11th Governing Council Meeting of Niti Aayog, attended by chief ministers, Lt governors and administrators representing 28 States and five UTs.

This was the first time chief ministers of all 28 states participated in the governing council meeting of NITI Aayog.

Governing council members also debated pushing rooftop solar energy on residential buildings, schools, hospitals, and government properties to reduce household dependence on grid electricity.

AIRLINE DENIES BOARDING TO VISUALLY IMPAIRED FLYERS

Group alleges discrimination; Cathay Pacific says baggage issue

S LALITHA @New Delhi

EXPRESS EXCLUSIVE

THE wee hours of Thursday turned into a nightmare for five visually impaired musicians at Bengaluru airport after they were denied boarding on a Cathay Pacific flight to Boston. The incident occurred at Terminal 2 of Kempegowda International Airport shortly after 11 pm on Wednesday.

The passengers alleged that their disability and a malfunctioning payment link for excess baggage charges led to the airline refusing them travel. However, Cathay Pacific maintained that the group was denied boarding because it could not make the payment within time to board the flight.

The group, aged between 26 and 33, was travelling to the United States for a three-month concert tour. Their employer, Samarthanam Trust for the Disabled, subsequently booked alternate tickets for them through British Airways at a cost of Rs 6,24,430 to ensure they did not miss the tour.

Mahantesh G K, founder and managing trustee of the trust, said he plans to initiate legal action against Cathay Pacific over the alleged discrimination faced by the visually impaired passengers and the "arrogance" displayed by airline staff.

The group comprised coordinator Lokesha, who is partially sighted and a World Blind Cricket champion, and five fully visually impaired musicians — Pranay Thapa from West Bengal, Namchangbuing Zeme from Assam and Ashoka Hanumanthappa (Davangere), Badesab Nadaf (Karadigudda) and Lokesha (Bengaluru) from Karnataka.

They had approached the Cathay Pacific counter to complete check-in formalities for Flight CX624, scheduled to depart at 1.15 am on Thursday. The airline permits a maximum luggage of 23 kg with only one piece per person.

The musicians alleged that not only were they denied boarding, but they were also ordered to leave the terminal building. They spoke to this newspaper over the phone while stranded outside the airport late at night.

Lokesha said, "The airline check-in staff told us that while our baggage weight was within the permitted limits, we were carrying multiple pieces, which was not allowed. We were told we would have to pay excess baggage charges. Initially, we were informed that the amount would be a little over Rs 60,000, and we agreed. Later, they said the total was Rs 1.12 lakh. We were asked to make the payment through a link, but it did not work. We tried more than 10 times. Staff from our organisation in the US also attempted to make the payment, but it still did not work."

Although a QR code payment option was available, the group alleged that they were informed the payment had to be made through a single transaction.

Mahantesh, who is currently in the US awaiting their arrival, said, "The association had the required amount spread across multiple accounts and could not make a single payment. I even offered my credit card details over the phone, but they refused to accept them. None of the passengers was carrying that much cash. I then suggested that four of them be allowed to travel without their luggage and that the fifth person travel the following day after the excess baggage charges were paid. They initially agreed, but later changed their mind."

The group claimed that staff at Kempegowda International Airport supported their case and that the terminal manager repeatedly urged the airline to allow them to board.

Thapa said, "While we were preparing to split up and board the plane, one of the staff members told us, 'We cannot let you board. You must leave the airport immediately.' They also stopped us when we tried to record a video."

Mahantesh, who is also visually impaired, alleged discrimination. "The tone in which they spoke to the passengers and their sudden change of stance suggest they believed people without eyesight cannot manage on their own. This is clear discrimination. I have travelled extensively around the world over the last two decades, and so have my staff members. I intend to pursue legal action."

Responding to queries about the incident, a Cathay Pacific spokesperson said: "Cathay Pacific is aware of the case, and this matter relates to the non-completion of payment within the required timeframe, and not to the passengers' disability. The group was travelling with baggage exceeding the permitted allowance, and our airport team extended the check-in process to provide additional assistance and support the group in completing the required excess baggage payment within the available time. However, the payment could not be completed within the flight's operational timeline. As a result, we were unable to accept the group for travel on that flight. We sincerely apologise for the distress and inconvenience caused."

The airline added that the same payment link was successfully used by other passengers.

Repeat incident

In a similar incident in July 2024, Cathay Pacific offloaded two visually impaired passengers from a flight from Hong Kong to Tokyo after questioning their fitness to travel. The Hong Kong Blind Union took up the matter, following which the airline apologised and promised to strengthen staff training and improve sensitivity towards passengers with disabilities.

Despite drive, illegal shops thrive in KR Market

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

THE Bengaluru Central City Corporation (BCCC) on Wednesday addressed encroachments on pathways and surrounding areas of KR Market and carried out cleaning. But the flower merchants have pointed out that 22 illegal shops in the ventilation area remain untouched.

GN Diwakar, president of KR Market Flower Merchants Association, said that time and again, officials concerned in the erstwhile Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Market Division, revenue section, and the engineering wing were apprised since 2016, but no action was taken.

"As per rules, the passage must not have any obstruction as the space is meant for incidents of fire and other emergencies. Due to inaction, Public Interest Litigation was also filed. In return, the municipal corporation also filed an affidavit stating they have razed such shops; in reality, these shops are still operating, and people have paid in lakhs to move in and operate," said Diwakar, adding that the inaction amounts to contempt of court.

The Central City Corporation has deployed a team under the Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA), comprising marshals and engineers, and removed shops on the pathway and entrance on both Wednesday and Thursday. A senior official stated that the action is being done on the backdrop of the GBA Chief Commissioner's visit a few days ago, and instructions to clear the encroachment at the entrance and the market's basement were given on Wednesday. The official also stated that all encroachments, including the 22 illegal shops, were removed in the drive.

But the association stated that the claims by BCCC officials are a blatant lie. The association also states that the upper basement, comprising flower market and pooja items stalls, was hit hard due to rains and floods after the lower basement was given to a private parking company. "The company has taken up civil works and diverted the stormwater. Earlier, the water used to reach the lower basement and enter drains, but now after multi-level parking, the flower traders and other small-time shop owners are suffering," they rued.

GBA aims at integration of development works through GIS mapping, says Rao

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

GREATER Bengaluru Authority (GBA) Chief Commissioner M Maheshwar Rao directed officials to integrate development works undertaken by various departments across the GBA jurisdiction through GIS mapping.

Addressing a meeting on development projects being executed by various departments within the GBA limits, he stated that all ongoing and proposed projects of city corporations, departments, and agencies operating within the GBA jurisdiction should be uploaded onto a common GIS platform. This would facilitate coordination among departments and enable effective and simultaneous execution of works. He instructed GBA IT officials to develop the necessary platform for this purpose.

All city corporations, the BWSSB, BESCOM, KPTCL, BMRCL, K-RIDE, and other departments were directed to submit their action plans to GBA for GIS mapping. He also instructed officials to introduce a system in the five city corporations under GBA whereby contractor bills would be processed only after project details are updated on the GIS platform.

Rao instructed to identify waterlogging-prone areas and taking preventive measures to ensure rainwater does not accumulate on roads.

Sewage from upstream areas floods layouts in Byrathi

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE residents of Kanakashree Byrathi Layout are left in the lurch as dirty water from upstream areas is flooding the main road connecting their layout and a number of apartments in Bengaluru East City Corporation (BECC) for ages, and still the issue is unresolved. The residents say the flow has increased as tenements have increased.

"The water on the road is mixed (raw sewage and water from kitchens and bathrooms). Despite bringing the notice to assistant executive engineer Horamavu, BECC and BWSSB, the issue was not addressed. BWSSB officials, after inspection on Wednesday, shifted the onus on corporation officials, who point fingers at the water board," said M Selvarasu, resident, Kanakashree Byrathi Layout.

Apritha, AEE Horamavu, she did not respond. Meanwhile, Bengaluru Water Supply Sewerage Board officials along with the team, visited the spot and stated that sewage connection is being given to the area as it is under 110 villages that were absorbed into the corporation.

"At some place there is a discontinuity (sewage lines), and once this is fixed, the problem will be addressed," said an official and added that the East City Corporation officials also need to add a small drain network. Due to a lack of drainage, the water is flowing into the roads.

City doc charged for int'l roaming while in Sikkim

His phone picked up Chinese network in Nathu La pass near Line of Actual Control

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

An Indian physician has been billed for international roaming charges after his mobile phone reportedly picked up a Chinese network signal during a brief family visit to Nathu La pass in Sikkim, sparking fresh concerns over border-area telecom coverage and billing practices.

Dr Sundar Sankaran, who was holidaying in Sikkim with his family, said he received a hefty bill claiming he had used his phone in China, though he remained well within Indian territory. The incident occurred when the group spent only a few minutes at Nathu La, a high-altitude pass near the Line of Actual Control (LAC) with China.

Dr Sankaran described the experience as frustrating. He later took to X, tagging Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI): "Request TRAI to clarify. I was charged international roaming while being in Sikkim, saying I travelled to China. Is it allowed when I never went to China this year? I was in Sikkim border of China, I understand. It's sad our telecom networks are so weak and Chinese network so good, I am asked to pay for international roaming despite being in India."

The surgeon's post has drawn widespread attention, with several users sharing similar experiences of erroneous international roaming charges in border regions.

One user recalled a 2015 trip to Assam and Meghalaya, where "a lot of folks in our group got the 'Welcome to Bangladesh' message and got charged for international roaming". He called it "a scam by companies".

Another user noted that such charges have occurred multiple times but could be refunded on contacting the service provider.

The episode highlights longstanding issues with mobile network coverage in India's sensitive border areas, where signals from neighbouring countries can sometimes overpower weaker domestic towers.

Experts have previously pointed to the need for better infrastructure and stricter guidelines on cross-border signal leakage and billing transparency.

TRAI is yet to respond publicly to Dr Sankaran's request for clarification. Telecom operators have not commented on the specific case. Dr Sankaran said, "I wrote to the service provider and they have refunded the amount. But the point is, how can they charge International Roaming Rates for merely going to the border."

As border tourism grows in regions like Sikkim, the incident has raised questions about whether Indian telecom companies are equipped to prevent such billing errors and protect customers from unintended international charges while staying within the country.

9% interest apt for delayed payment of compensation: HC

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

INTEREST rate of 9 per cent per annum is more appropriate in cases involving death and serious injury, especially when there is a long delay in the claimants receiving compensation, the Karnataka High Court said, adding it is fair considering the prevailing economic conditions and bank rates.

Justice Tara Vitasta Ganju passed the order while disposing of the miscellaneous first appeal filed by United India Insurance Co. Limited, challenging an award dated February 16, 2018, on the rate of interest passed by a motor vehicle accident tribunal in the city. It had awarded compensation of Rs 16.57lakh with interest at 9 per cent per annum as compensation to the claimants, the husband and children of deceased Revanamma, who was hit by a Tempo Traveller while crossing Outer Ring Road in Kasturinagar in 2016.

The High Court said the Supreme Court has consistently held that the award of interest is intended to compensate the claimant for being deprived of the use of money, which was to be paid at the time the accident occurred. The rate of interest must be just, fair and reasonable, having regard for the prevailing economic conditions and bank rates, court added.

The interest is usually determined at the prevailing bank interest rate on a case-to-case basis. The guiding principle remains that the rate must strike a balance between fairness to the claimant and reasonableness to the insurer.

The accident occurred in 2016, resulting in the death of the wife of Malyadri, a resident of Chinnappa Layout in the city. The award was passed in 2018. The tribunal deemed it apposite to award interest on compensation at 9 per cent per annum, which is not punitive, considering the prevailing economic conditions and bank rates. It is now 10 years since the accident.

However, the court said compensation is required to be calculated as set out in the order and a sum of Rs 18.52lakh is to be awarded to Malyadri and his two sons. Accordingly, the impugned order is modified to enhance compensation by Rs 1.95lakh along with interest at the rate of 9 per cent per annum from the date of petition till date of realisation, in addition to Rs 16.57lakh awarded by the tribunal, the court ordered.

BENGALURU: The Nandini Layout police have arrested two persons for illegally possessing and selling 44.78 kg of sandalwood worth Rs 11 lakh. A total of 68 sandalwood pieces were seized from the accused. The accused are Naveen Kumar (23) and Madhumita (39). Police said, on May 30, they received a tip-off that sandalwood pieces were being sold near a flyover in Laggere. A police team rushed to the spot and found that the duo had stored 68 sandalwood pieces in their car and were allegedly selling them without a valid licence. The accused were arrested, and 44.78 kg of sandalwood was seized from their possession. Further investigation is underway to ascertain the source from which they procured the sandalwood. ENS

Absconding mom held, live-in partner reveals assault led to girl's death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

PRIYANKA (44), an advocate, who was absconding in connection with the murder of her five-and-a-half-year-old daughter, was arrested by the Kadugodi police on Thursday. Her live-in partner has allegedly revealed that they assaulted the child, after she demanded another flavour ice cream, in the car and later covered her mouth while she was crying, leading to her death.

The accused are Priyanka and her live-in partner Mohan G Mahalingappa (40), a real estate developer. The victim, P Vennela, was staying with her mother. Priyanka and her husband Praveen, a private school owner in Davanagere, had recently separated. Their elder daughter is staying with Praveen.

A police officer told TNIE that Priyanka was absconding after an FIR was registered against her. She was arrested near Sakleshpur in Hassan district and brought to Bengaluru. After being produced before a court, she was remanded in police custody for five days for further investigation.

Priyanka and Mohan

Priyanka had stopped using her phone and bank cards to avoid detection. She was staying at a farmhouse owned by a friend of Mohan.

Mohan, who was in 10 days of police custody, reportedly revealed that on the night of March 24, while Priyanka had gone shopping near Indiranagar, he was in the car with Vennela. The child asked for ice cream and that he bought one for her. When she refused the ice cream he had purchased and insisted on another one, he allegedly assaulted her in the stomach. As the child began crying loudly, he allegedly covered her mouth and nose, resulting in her death. Police said the prime accused, Priyanka, has yet to fully disclose her role in the murder. Only after comparing the statements of both accused would they be able to establish a clear picture of the murder and the alleged destruction of evidence.

To cover up the crime, Priyanka allegedly gave her family members two different versions of events. In one version, she claimed that the child ate food and slept, and that the next morning she found her dead. In another version, she said that she and Mohan had gone to a restaurant in Kolar to celebrate her birthday and left Vennela sleeping inside the car with the air conditioner on. Later, they took the child home and put her to bed, only to find her dead the next morning.

Praveen consulted his sister, a doctor, with the details of the post-mortem, who confirmed the possibility of foul play. He filed a murder complaint against the duo on June 4.

19-yr-old rowdy-sheeter attacks cop, shot in leg

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 19-year-old rowdy-sheeter was shot in the leg by Hebbagodi police near Singena Agrahara when he allegedly attacked a constable with a dagger on Thursday morning. The incident happened when a team of policemen went to Singena Agrahara to arrest him in connection with a robbery case. The accused has been identified as Jeeva, a resident of Tirupalya. He has seven criminal cases against him, including one in Tamil Nadu. He is allegedly involved in cases of murder, extortion, robbery and dacoity. Four cases have been registered against him at Hebbagodi police station, while one each in Electronics City, Surya City, and Vettalam police station in Tamil Nadu. A murder case was registered against him when he was 16. A senior police officer said the robbery case was registered against Jeeva and his associate at Hebbagodi police station on June 2 for allegedly assaulting a man and relieving him of his mobile phone and cash. Based on a tip off that Jeeva was hiding in an isolated place on the outskirts of Singena Agrahara, the team led by PSI Ayyappa rushed to the spot around 1 am. Seeing the police team, Jeeva attempted to flee. Jeeva allegedly attacked constable Nagesh with a dagger when he tried to catch him. Ayyappa fired two rounds in the air warning Jeeva to surrender. But Jeeva ignored the warning and allegedly assaulted Nagesh with the dagger, causing deep injuries. The team members overpowered Jeeva after Ayyappa shot him in the right leg. Jeeva was later shifted to a hospital. The injured Nagesh is said to be out of danger. A separate case has been registered against Jeeva for allegedly attacking Nagesh. The police said Jeeva used no mobile phones and his gang has some juvenile offenders.

Widow of tipper driver who died in quarry gets ₹30L

BENGALURU: Shashikala, wife of Lakshmana, a driver who died after he fell into a about 40 ft deep quarry gorge while driving a jelly stone-laden tipper in Nagamangala taluk, got Rs 30 lakh compensation, which includes Rs 5 lakh from the labour department and Rs 25 lakh from the crushing unit owner. The family of the victim was compensated following the suomoto case registered by the Upa Lokayukta Justice B Veerappa against 10 officials of Mandya district for failure to check the safety measures in the crusher unit, which led to the tragedy, on December 26, 2026, in Bellur police limits. The license of the crushing unit was suspended by the environment officer (EO) following issuance of notice of proposed direction (NPD), recommending proposed action under Water and Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Acts read with rules framed thereunder, for which a response was submitted. Assistant Director of Taluk Panchayat stated that notices have been issued to 11 crusher owners over tax dues and awaiting their reply to proceed further in the matter. ARTO submitted that a total of 17 vehicles have been seized for not paying tax and also registered criminal cases against owners of 3 vehicles of crusher and initiated action to recover Rs 71,826 tax and Rs 35,000 penalty in respect of nine cases. Further hearing of the case adjourned to August 8. ENS

DKS signals Delhi outreach, backs cooperative federalism at NITI meet

'Committed to working with Centre, other states to achieve goal of developed India by 2047'

BANSY KALAPPA
@ Bengaluru/New Delhi

IN a significant departure from the approach adopted by his predecessor, Karnataka Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Thursday travelled to New Delhi to participate in the 11th Governing Council meeting of NITI Aayog chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, signalling a more engagement-driven strategy towards the Centre.

The meeting, held at the Rashtrapati Bhavan Cultural Centre, focused on 'Inclusive Human Development for Viksit Bharat 2047' and brought together CMs and senior policymakers to discuss human capital, employment, skills, health, and equitable development.

During his tenure, Siddaramaiah had joined other Congress Chief Ministers in boycotting certain meetings, alleging discrimination by the Centre in matters relating to fund allocation, fiscal federalism and state rights.

Addressing the gathering, Shivakumar strongly advocated the principle of "cooperative federalism," arguing that the challenges posed by technological disruption, climate change and global competition could only be addressed through close cooperation between the Centre and the states.

"States are not merely implementing agencies but hubs of innovation and cumulative growth. The Government of India and the states must work as equal partners in designing solutions tailored to diverse regional realities," he said.

Projecting Karnataka as a willing partner in the national development agenda, Shivakumar said the state remained fully committed to working with the Centre and other states to achieve the goal of a developed India by 2047.

The Chief Minister placed several key demands before the NITI Aayog and the Union Government. These included a one-time infrastructure grant for government schools and colleges to improve educational standards and bring them on par with private institutions, and a system of incentives for states that achieve measurable improvements in health, nutrition, education, skill development, employment generation and sustainability.

He also sought greater investments in technology, research and human capital to help states withstand global economic and geopolitical uncertainties. Shivakumar called for stricter enforcement of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) provisions by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs to improve rural health and education infrastructure.

In a proposal aimed at addressing unemployment and skill gaps, he urged industries to provide three-year projections of their workforce requirements through a centralised national job portal with clearly defined skill parameters. Highlighting the need for balanced regional growth, Shivakumar stressed the importance of developing urban and regional economic centres beyond Bengaluru to generate quality employment opportunities across Karnataka. He also sought special infrastructure grants for Bengaluru, citing the enormous pressure placed on the city by migration from across India. He renewed Karnataka's demand for early approval of Rapid Rail Transit System (RRTS) corridors linking Bengaluru with Kolar, Mysuru, Tumakuru and Chikkaballapur.

Political analyst Prof PS Jayaramu said the Chief Minister's approach reflected a commitment to constructive engagement rather than confrontation.

"It is gratifying to note that Shivakumar has adopted a constructive and positive attitude towards national and state development. This will strengthen the practice of cooperative federalism and may help Karnataka secure greater support from the Centre. Without compromising Congress' political goals, he appears to be following a path similar to Telangana CM A Revanth Reddy and Andhra Pradesh CM N Chandrababu Naidu in engaging with NITI Aayog and the Union Government," he said.

CM seeks nod, funding for key state projects

ENS @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA CM DK Shivakumar met Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi on Thursday and submitted a memorandum seeking urgent clearance and funding for several key state projects, including the Mekedatu reservoir, Upper Bhadra and Kalasa-Banduri Nala water projects, Bengaluru Metro expansion, Bengaluru Suburban Rail, Satellite Town Ring Road, and pending National Highway works.

Shivakumar requested the release of Rs 5,300 crore for the Upper Bhadra project, Rs 2,860 crore in pending Finance Commission grants and a special infrastructure package of Rs 26,000 crore for Bengaluru. He also sought approval for Metro's Phase-3A and revised Phase-2 costs, Bengaluru-Mumbai High-Speed Rail Corridor and Regional Rapid Rail Transit System (RRTS) corridors. The CM also urged the Centre to expedite clearances for irrigation, transport and energy projects, establish an AIIMS in Raichur and provide dedicated financial support of Rs 25,000 crore annually for Kalyana Karnataka under Article 371(J).

Shivakumar, along with Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, met Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman and submitted a memorandum seeking Rs 5,000 crore under the Special Assistance to States for Capital Investment (SASCI), Rs 5,000 crore under the Urban Infrastructure Development Fund (UIDF) for the Brand Bengaluru initiative, and Rs 3,500 crore under the Rural Infrastructure Development Fund (RIDF) for 2026-27.

POWER GAMES

Cabinet hopefuls resort to pleas, protests and pressure

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

WITH political dynamics within the ruling Congress party changing after DK Shivakumar took over as Chief Minister, leaders aspiring to join his cabinet have resorted to their own strategies. MLAs who identified with various camps are changing their tactics to convince the party high command to give them cabinet berths.

Supporters of former CM Siddaramaiah, including former minister Zameer Ahmed Khan and Dr HC Mahadevappa, have been exerting pressure on the high command by allegedly sponsoring protests by their communities. Mahadevappa's supporters, under the aegis of 'Karnataka Dalita Sangatanegala Okkoota', held a rally at Freedom Park. Religious head Jnanaprakasha Swami termed Mahadevappa a true Ambedkarite and insisted that the latter be made minister. He also raised the issue of a Dalit CM, saying many leaders have missed the opportunity, and warned that if the high command ignores Dalits, they will teach the Congress a lesson by defeating its candidates in all 224 assembly constituencies in 2028.

Meanwhile, Zameer's supporters created a scene at Siddaramaiah's residence Cauvery. They mobbed him, urging that he pressure the high command to favour Zameer. In a video which went viral, Siddaramaiah reportedly yelled at them, alleging that Zameer went against the high command, while referring to the latter's alleged anti-party activities in the Davanagere South bypolls. The supporters, however, asked Siddaramaiah to advise Zameer to mend his ways.

According to sources, Siddaramaiah is unlikely to bat strongly for either HC Mahadevappa or Zameer. It is to be seen whether he will be able to push his economic adviser Basavaraja Rayareddy or Ramadurga MLA Ashok M Pattan into the cabinet, a senior Congress leader said.

The high command has asked Mahadevappa to work for the party organisation as his son Sunil Bose has become Chamarajanagar MP on the party ticket.

But Zameer has developed a good equation with AICC general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal by contributing considerably in the Kerala assembly polls, which is expected to pay dividends, sources added.

The high command has been evaluating the performance of ministers in the Siddaramaiah cabinet to consider them for ministerial posts in Shivakumar's cabinet, said another source. Either HK Patil or Dinesh Gundu Rao may be asked to be Assembly speaker. Lakshmi Hebbalkar and Santhosh Lad are hoping that their performance pays off. Dr MC Sudhakar, K Venkatesh and others are lobbying in their own way, according to sources. AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge is likely to support fresh faces such as MLC Vasantha Kumar under his quota, they added.

SIDDU REBUKES ZAMEER'S SUPPORTER

Former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah took exception to a person holding a banner demanding the induction of former minister BZ Zameer Ahmed Khan into the cabinet, standing next to him. In a video clip that has gone viral on social media platforms, a person holding the banner is telling the former CM that Khan is his close aide and should be made a minister. The former CM rebuts, questioning, "Just because he is close to me, can he work against me?" After being admonished by the former CM, the person holding the banner was sent out. In the last few days, Zameer's supporters staged demonstrations at several places in the state demanding his induction into the cabinet.

RDPR Minister urges Union govt to increase wage-sharing ratio

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA RDPR and Panchayat Raj Minister Eshwar Khandre has urged the Union Government to increase the wage-sharing ratio under the new Viksit Bharat Gram Jeevan Mission (VBGJM), to at least 80:20. He said the new scheme mandates 60:40, putting pressure on state governments.

Speaking to reporters on Thursday, Khandre said that under MGNREGA, introduced by the UPA government in 2006, the Centre bore 90% of wage costs, while states contributed the remaining 10%. However, under the new VBGJM scheme to be implemented from July 1, the Centre has proposed a 60:40 funding ratio. This will be burden on states, the minister said, demanding that the Centre either continue the 90:10 ratio or raise it to at least 80:20. Khandre also criticised the proposal to deny employment for 60 days annually. He said this was neither reasonable nor justifiable. "In this time where more mechanisation is used in agriculture, many in rural areas, workers are finding difficult to find jobs and they depend on this employment schemes for their livelihood." he added.

Khandre said he would raise these concerns at the meeting of state Rural Development Ministers, that will be chaired by Union Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan on June 28 and 29. Minister also stated that the Centre should not restrict states to specific types of works under the new scheme.

JDS CONDEMNS MOVE TO MAKE KUMARA KRUPA CM'S RESIDENCE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE JDS on Thursday criticised Karnataka Chief Minister DK Shivakumar's decision to choose the heritage structure Kumara Krupa as his official residence and questioned the renovation works currently under way at the premises. In an official post, the JDS said, "Kumara Krupa is the identity of Bengaluru. Shivakumar is using the 160-year-old heritage structure for his selfish interests. This is low and condemnable."

The party further stated that despite the availability of the Cauvery and Anugraha buildings on the same premises, Shivakumar was attempting to destroy a part of history. "This is not just arrogance, but also the height of foolishness," it said.

The JDS noted that the heritage building once served as the residence of Dewan K Sheshadri Iyer and had hosted Mahatma Gandhi during his stay in Bengaluru. It alleged that Shivakumar was seeking to fulfil a personal desire by converting the structure into his official residence.

"He is betraying history. Kumara Krupa is not someone's personal property, but an integral part of our heritage. Instead of protecting it, he is damaging it, which is unfortunate," the party said.

Demanding that the renovation work be stopped immediately, the JDS reiterated that the government should preserve the city's heritage rather than alter it for personal use.

The New Indian Express, in a report published on June 10 titled "Kumara Krupa to be CM's official residence", had highlighted the historical significance of the heritage structure and the renovation works being undertaken at the site.

TIME MATTERS

Govt officials, staffers must log in by 10am on Kartavya app

ASHWINI M SRIPAD
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government has directed all its employees to mark attendance through the Karnataka Attendance Management System (KAMS) by 10am every day. The system is enabled with geo-coordinates. Geographic coordinates are a numerical system used to pinpoint any exact location on Earth. This is to ensure that employees have come to office and logged in by 10am.

The planning manager of Human Resources Management System, Finance department, has issued a circular to all heads of departments, Drawing and Disburse officials, to verify and confirm the geo-coordinates of their respective offices. This is applicable to all government departments across the state. The responsibility has been given to officials of Group B and above to validate office location details. The move will ensure accurate attendance tracking and location-based verification of government offices. The same will be uploaded to the HRMS software.

E-governance authorities have included HRMS in the Kartavya app, which employees have to download. A senior Finance department employee, on condition of anonymity, said a biometric attendance system was there earlier, but was not effective as many wouldn't come on time, or other issues. At some places, they even removed the biometric machine, citing it to be under repair and would come to office at their own time. With the geo-coordinates, they cannot sign their attendance from any place. It captures real time so a staffer has to be in office to login before 10am.

"It was done on pilot basis in the Health department. Now all departments across the state will implement it,'' the official said.

Chief Secretary Shalini Rajneesh directed every staffer, including officials, to be in office by 10am and register under the Kartavya application developed by the e-Governance department. She warned that a report would be sent on those who do not mark attendance on this app.

Soon after he took charge, Chief Minister DK Shivakumar had at his first meeting with senior officials, insisted that government staff be present on time every day.

POLITICAL THEATRE

No bias in BC grants allocation, says former CM Siddaramaiah

Bengaluru: Former chief minister Siddaramaiah on Thursday clarified that the Department of Backward Classes Welfare only issued preliminary approval for construction of community halls and student hostels for around 155 organisations at a cost of Rs 71.85 crore and that the list is not final. His clarification comes amid allegations that he favoured Kurubas and a few other communities while allocating grants. Rejecting allegations of favoritism towards the Kuruba community, he said the higher allocation was due to a larger number of applications received from the community and not because of any discrimination. Applicatios from other communities are also being examined, he added. Siddaramaiah clarified that funds have not yet been released and will be disbursed in phases after verification of documents and project progress, in accordance with guidelines.

Min: Will carry forward AHINDA initiative under Siddu's guidance

BELAGAVI: Reiterating his commitment to bolster the AHINDA movement across the state, Public Works Minister Satish Jarkiholi said he is prepared to carry forward the initiatives of AHINDA under former chief minister Siddaramaiah's guidance. AHINDA is Kannada acronym for minorities, backward classes and Dalits. ''AHINDA will always remain relevant. I will continue to take the organisation and its flag forward under Siddaramaiah's leadership,'' he said, adding that the movement represents hundreds of communities whose rights and aspirations require continued political representation. Jarkiholi firmly dismissed speculation about differences with Siddaramaiah, calling reports circulating on social media baseless and misleading. He alleged that certain IT cells were deliberately spreading misinformation to create confusion within the party. "Some IT cells are trying to create an impression of discord between us. We have shared an excellent relationship from the beginning, and there is no disagreement whatsoever. Such discussions are completely unnecessary," he said. On speculation surrounding the Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) presidency and other key positions, Jarkiholi said he was satisfied with his current responsibilities. ''In the Congress, patience is important. Those who wait get their due at the right time. I am prepared to wait patiently for future opportunities," he remarked.

T. Raghumurthy : A Leader Who Scripted a New Chapter in Challakere's Political History

HAPPY BIRTHDAY to

Sri. T. Raghumurthy

Man on a mission

Set your mission and be like a candle, do your job, quietly, calmly, without complaining, without speaking, in silence!" is a great quote by an unknown philosopher. This holds good to the MLA of Challakere T. Raghumurthy who created history by winning the constituency for Three consecutive times.

Without demanding any positions nor getting lured by the offers from opposition party, T. Raghumurthy has been working as a staunch Congress man since beginning of his political journey.

Born in an agriculturist family of T Thippayya and Basamma, Raghumurthy was born on June 10, 1963 at Kadabanakatte village of Chitradurga taluk and Challakere assembly constituency in Chitradurga district. He is the second son of T. Tippayya and Basamma. He completed his Bachelor's degree in Civil Engineering from the University B.D.T. College of Engineering (UBDT), Davanagere.

Before entering politics, he served as an Executive Engineer. After taking voluntary retirement from government service, he joined active politics through the Indian National Congress and worked towards strengthening the party organisation at the grassroots level. T. Raghumurthy was elected as the Member of the Legislative Assembly (MLA) from Challakere Assembly Constituency for the first time in 2013. He retained the seat in 2018 and secured a third consecutive victory in 2023, thereby achieving a hat-trick of electoral successes.

He holds the distinction of being the only MLA in the history of Challakere Assembly Constituency to win three consecutive elections from the same political party. His electoral success has been attributed to organisational work within the party and sustained engagement with constituents on local issues.

- Urban beautification initiatives include the renovation of Jawaharlal Nehru Circle and development of memorial circles dedicated to Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, Maharshi Valmiki, Babu Jagjivan Ram, and Kanakadasa.

Community Infrastructure and Social Inclusion

Valmiki Bhavana, Challakere

J J Bhavana, Challakere

To address the needs of various communities, several community halls have been sanctioned and constructed.

Since 2013, approximately 366 community halls have been approved across urban and rural areas, with around 340 completed. These include: ● Valmiki Bhavan ● Ambedkar Bhavan ● Kanaka Bhavan ● Sri Krishna Bhavan ● Bhovi Bhavan ● Padmashali Bhavan ● Ediga Bhavan ● Sevalal Bhavan.

Government Welfare Schemes

Following his re-election in 2023, T. Raghumurthy conducted 29 public interaction meetings involving taluk-level officials to facilitate the implementation of the Karnataka Government's guarantee schemes. These include: ● Gruha Jyothi ● Gruha Lakshmi ● Anna Bhagya ● Yuva Nidhi.

Healthcare Infrastructure Development

Mother and Child Hospital

Several measures have been implemented to strengthen healthcare services in the constituency.

- Construction of a Mother and Child Hospital within the Challakere Government Hospital campus.
- Establishment of a Dialysis Centre and Intensive Care Unit (ICU).
- Installation of oxygen supply systems for 130 hospital beds.
- Construction of Primary Health Centres at: Chennamma Nagathihalli, Meerasabihalli, Sanekere (T.N. Kote), Doddachellur, Upgradation of the Parashurampura Community Health Centre.
- Construction of ANM sub-centres in rural areas to improve access to healthcare services.

Social Welfare Initiatives

Apart from developmental activities, several social initiatives have been undertaken.

These include: ● Provision of daily midday meals at the MLA office since 2013. ● Distribution of food kits during the COVID-19 pandemic. ● Organisation of large-scale job fairs involving more than 100 private companies, facilitating employment opportunities for over 10,000 educated unemployed youth. ● Efforts to discourage the establishment of new liquor outlets within the constituency. ● Measures aimed at preventing illegal sand mining activities.

With Best Compliments from
Sri. Dr. Venkatagiri
Little Flower International School,
Challakere

Party Organisation and Political Activities

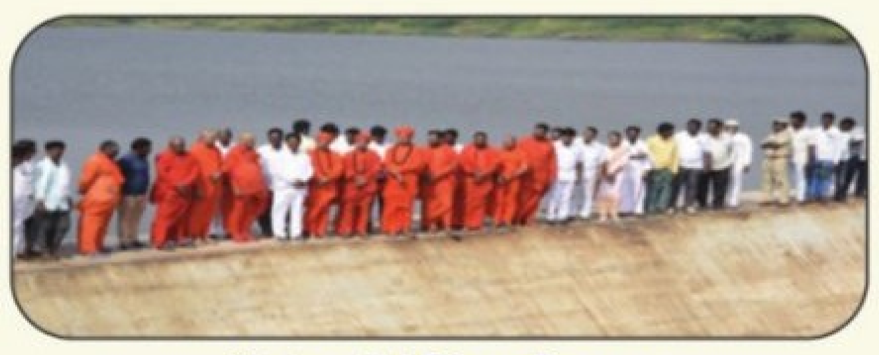
T. Raghumurthy has actively participated in organisational activities of the Indian National Congress.

Notable initiatives include:

- Organisation of the Bharat Jodo Yatra in Challakere constituency in 2022.
- Participation in padayatras covering approximately 150 kilometres.
- Conducting a padayatra during the 75th Independence Amrit Mahotsav celebrations.
- Implementation of programmes as directed by the All India Congress Committee (AICC) and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC).
- Facilitating approximately 78,000 digital memberships between 2013 and 2023, placing Challakere among the leading constituencies in membership enrolment.
- Active involvement in election campaigns in various Assembly and Parliamentary constituencies across Karnataka and Telangana.

Irrigation and Water Resource Development

Ganga pooja with the present CM DK Shivakumar and former CM Siddaramaiah at VV Sagar dam.



Vedavathi River Barrage

Several irrigation projects have been undertaken to improve agricultural productivity and water availability.

Key initiatives include:

- Allocation of 0.25 TMC of water from Vani Vilasa Sagara under the revised DPR of the Bhadra Upper Canal Project.
- Construction of barrages and bridge-cum-barrages at various locations including Parashurampura, Chouluru, Bomberahalli, Gosikere, Torebeeranahalli, and Matsamudra.
- Construction of additional barrages under the Minor Irrigation Department.
- Development of bridge-cum-barrages near Papenahalli-Sultanipura and Jinagihalli.
- Construction of borewells under the Ganga Kalyana Scheme.
- Provision of drinking water facilities under the Tungabhadra Backwater Project.
- Construction of check dams in several villages, including Suranahalli, Hunasekatte, Koonabevu, Haykallu, Kariyammanahatti and Pelarahatti.

Sports & Industrial Development

Efforts have also been directed towards promoting industrial growth and sports infrastructure.

Major initiatives include:

- Facilitation of a large garment manufacturing unit near Budnahatti, expected to generate employment for approximately 8,000 people.
- Development of industrial plots and sheds for SC/ST entrepreneurs through the Karnataka State Small Industries Development Corporation (KSSIDC).
- Construction of a modern sports complex on 13 acres along the Parashurampura–Challakere Road.
- Removal of a long-standing unauthorised check post, addressing public grievances.

KARNATAKA

The Hassan city police's Special Investigation Team arrested 10 persons, including five history-sheeters, in connection with the murder of notorious Bengaluru-based rowdy-sheeter Manjesh. According to the police, the SIT first arrested five accused in Mysuru and subsequently nabbed the remaining suspects based on information provided during interrogation

KAS officer booked for releasing relief flouting rules

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

THE Lokayukta police have registered an FIR against KAS officer Tejas Kumar N for allegedly releasing Rs 13.19 crore as compensation through the Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board (KIADB) in violation of rules.

Kumar is now Shivamogga Forest Division's manager (PSO). Earlier, he was with KIADB as special land acquisition officer.

According to the FIR filed by Rupesh Kumar L, a resident of Maruthi Seva Nagar and an employee of a private firm, a civil dispute over ownership of 1,000.06 sqm of a 15-gunta plot bearing survey No 53/1 in Maruthi Seva Nagar has been pending between the families of Narayanaswamy and Lakshminarayana, the complainant's father. The matter is also pending before the high court.

Meanwhile, KIADB acquired the land in 2024 for the K-RIDE project. Kumar, in his capacity as special land acquisition officer, initiated acquisition proceedings for 1,000.06 sqm. Lakshminarayana objected to the proceedings and submitted documents claiming ownership rights over the land.

The complaint alleges that before the court could pass an order on the ownership of the land, Kumar facilitated release of Rs 13,19,52,917 to Narayanaswamy as compensation based on forged documents.

A Lokayukta officer said irregularities were found in the compensation disbursement process during the preliminary inquiry. Based on the inquiry findings, the government's permission to prosecute Kumar was sought. After receiving approval, the Lokayukta police registered an FIR against Kumar and one K Narayanaswamy on May 25.

The case was registered under the provisions of the Prevention of Corruption Act along with charges of forgery, criminal breach of trust, and other offences. The officer said the police conducted searches at the residences of Narayanaswamy and other beneficiaries who received compensation.

In January, the Lokayukta police raided the properties of Kumar in Bengaluru and other places and unearthed Rs 26.55 crore worth assets disproportionate to his known sources of income.

Private financier damages house over interest payment failure

RAGHOTTAM KOPPAR @ Gadag

THE staff members of a micro finance company on Wednesday evening demolished the house of a person for delaying interest payment. They also damaged the CCTV system, forcing the family members to leave the premises in fear.

The incident took place at Abhinav Extension Area of Kalasapur Road in Gadag town. The house owner, Kotesh Bagali, had taken loans from a financial company in Gadag and failed in repayment. On this, Srikant, the financier, hired an earth mover and demolished the compound.

A member of the Bagali family said a finance company forcibly took two blank cheques and the staff were demanding more money than they have given. The person said the financiers threatened him with weapons, and the family members sent the women and kids to another town in fear.

This is one of several cases involving meter interest, most of which are going unnoticed in the district. Police officials have also told people to inform people when they face harassment. On Wednesday, the officials warned many rowdy sheeters not to indulge in any activities.

Kotesh Bagali said, "Jeevan, a financier, asked for money last week and when I said I was not in town, he and others came to my house and brought two blank cheques and threatened my family members. They are asking for more interest. We want justice. They have damaged the TV, CCTV, bike and demolished our compound wall using an earth mover."

A police official said that they have registered a case and the investigation is under process.

REFUND FOR EXISTING PASSES

Govt approves free bus passes for students

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE state government has ordered the distribution of free bus passes to all school and college students travelling on buses operated by the four road transport corporations, with immediate effect, along with refund for already issued passes.

According to a government order issued on Thursday, the scheme will cover students travelling on buses operated by the Karnataka State Road Transport Corporation (KSRTC), Bengaluru Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC), North West Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC) and Kalyana Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (KKRTC).

The order follows the Cabinet's decision earlier this month to extend the free bus pass facility to all students in the state. The government has estimated the annual cost of the scheme at Rs 286.08 crore, apart from an additional Rs 15 crore towards processing charges and accident relief fund contributions, which will be borne by the government.

Students can apply for the passes online through the Seva Sindhu portal from schools, colleges or any other location. Existing eligibility criteria, including educational qualification requirements, distance limits and validity periods, will continue to apply.

The government has also directed transport corporations to refund the full amount collected from students who purchased bus passes before the scheme came into force.

The refunds must be completed within 15 days. Between May 30 and June 9, 19,792 concessional student passes had already been issued by the four transport corporations.

The order also extends the benefit to Karnataka residents studying in educational institutions located in neighbouring states and students residing in border areas of neighbouring states who are enrolled in institutions within Karnataka.

GAS CYLINDER TRUCK RUNS OVER BIKE NEAR CMTI JUNCTION, COUPLE DIES

BENGALURU: A couple travelling to Andhra Pradesh to attend a wedding died on the spot after a truck carrying gas cylinders knocked them down near the CMTI Junction in Yeshwanthpur Traffic Police Station limits on Thursday afternoon. The deceased have been identified as Shabraj (28) and Shabreen Sha (25), residents of Chikkabasti in Ullal, who ran a provision store. According to the police, the couple was heading to Madanapalle in Andhra Pradesh to attend a wedding. At around 11.45 am, they were travelling towards Hebbal from Rajkumar Memorial Road on their bike when a truck carrying gas cylinders, coming from Peenya, hit their two-wheeler near the CMTI Junction. The police said the truck driver allegedly lost control of the vehicle while moving from the right side to the left. As a result, the couple came under the wheels of the truck and were dragged for a few metres. Both died on the spot. The bodies were later shifted to MS Ramaiah Hospital for post-mortem examination. The accident caused traffic congestion in the area for some time. A case of rash and negligent driving has been registered against the truck driver. During questioning, the driver claimed that he was unable to apply the brakes due to a brake failure. However, police said officials from the Regional Transport Office (RTO) will inspect the vehicle to ascertain the exact cause of the accident.ENS

T'kuru RRTS proposal revives Metro extension talk

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE state government's proposal to introduce a Regional Rapid Transit System (RRTS) between Bengaluru and Tumakuru has reignited the debate over the planned Metro extension to neighbouring city. Mobility experts noted that RRTS is better suited for longer inter-city travel and had previously argued it would be a more efficient solution than extending the Metro corridor.

Speaking to TNIE, Ashish Verma, convener of the Sustainable Transportation Lab at the Indian Institute of Science (IISc), said, "Optimisation of correct public transport system in different contexts is must to ensure viability and usage of the system to be introduced. While Metro suits best for urban corridors requiring many stations for access, long corridors like Bengaluru to Tumakuru are best suited for RRTS, which will help optimise travel time of commuters."

Sanjeev Dyammanvar, an urban mobility expert, said, "Metro and RRTS are designed for different mobility needs. Metro networks are meant for urban travel, with closely spaced stations, frequent services and shorter journeys, where most passengers travel standing." He added that RRTS, on the other hand, is intended for intercity travel over distances of 50-100 km, offering speeds of up to 120 kmph, fewer stops, more seating, luggage space and passenger amenities.

IN-SPACe picks 2 B'luru startups for tech adoption fund

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

THE Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Centre (IN-SPACe) on Thursday said that it has selected three Indian startups, two of them from Bengaluru, for funding under its Technology Adoption Fund (TAF).

Bengaluru-based space startup Astrobase Space Technologies Private Ltd will develop a high thrust closed-cycle liquid rocket engine and SatSure Analytics India Private Ltd, a space analytics company, will build Dhaarini, a Large Earth Observation Model (LOM), to serve as India's foundational AI platform for remote sensing applications.

IN-SPACe listed Hyderabad-based TM2SPACE Technologies Private Ltd to develop an indigenous AI-powered star tracker system for satellites, enabling the pointing accuracy required for high-resolution imaging and communication missions, a team from IN-SPACe said.

TAF will support the Indian space industry in absorbing, adapting and commercialising advanced space technologies. It also bridges the research and operational deployment gap.

Astrobase's project is aimed at developing an 800 kN-class reusable liquid oxygen-LNG rocket engine with high efficiency and modular architecture for medium-to-heavy lift launch vehicles, serving as a commercial propulsion solution for next-generation launch systems and orbital stages.

SatSure's project provides for diverse satellite and aerial datasets. The model will generate actionable insights for agriculture, infrastructure and disaster management, enabling data-driven decision-making.

IN-SPACE INVITES EOI TO TRANSFER BAHUBALI TECH TO PRIVATE FIRMS

BENGALURU: The Indian National Space Promotion and Authorisation Centre (IN-SPACe) has invited Expression of Interest (EOI) from private players to transfer technology of its Launch Vehicle Mark-3 (LVM-3), popularly known as Bahubali for its lift of mass of 640 tonnes and its three stage rocket. This is after IN-SPACe invited EOI for transfer of technology pertaining to PSLV. In September 2025, IN-SPACe and New Space India Ltd signed a technology transfer agreement with Hindustan Aeronautics Ltd (HAL) to transfer SSLV technology. Scientists at ISRO, which developed the launch vehicle, call it the most versatile and highly dependable workhorse. LVM3-M6 was used for the Blue Bird-2 Mission, LVM3-M5 for the CMS-03 communication satellite launch and LVM3-M4 for the Chandrayaan-3 Moon Mission. IN-SPACe said on Thursday that taking cognizance of the expanding global space economy and the strategic need to significantly scale up launch frequencies, this technology transfer of LVM3 for end-to-end realisation, operation and commercialisation of launch vehicles by a private industry has been initiated. It is aimed at Indian industries or consortia that have handled multi-disciplinary turn-key projects and keen on assimilating LVM3's proven technology and offering commercial launch services to compete in the global heavy-lift satellite launch market. ENS

A historical temple was found at the heart of the Gadag town in an abandoned land filled with garbage. The temple looks like it is from the Chalukya era and the local residents did not know anything about the structure. A Septuagenarian of the KC Rani road in Gadag said some residents converted this temple into a hut in the 1960s. The temple was found by a worker when the land was cleaned to build a shopping mall. Researchers who visited the place said the structure cold have been concealed in fear of enemy attack

With lowest C-section rates, Dakshina Kannada defies state's surgery surge

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

AT a time when Karnataka is witnessing a sharp rise in Caesarean section (C-section) deliveries, Dakshina Kannada has emerged as one of the districts with the lowest rates of surgical births at both government and private hospitals, according to data from the Reproductive and Child Health (RCH) portal.

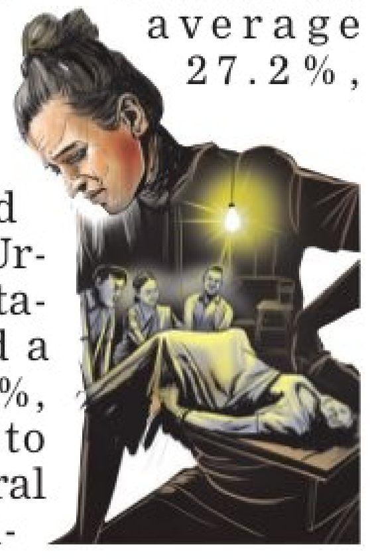
The district recorded a C-section rate of 39% in government hospitals during 2025-26, unchanged from the previous year and slightly below the state average of 40%. In private hospitals too, Dakshina Kannada reported a rate of 39%, among the lowest in Karnataka and significantly below the state average of 64%.

The contrast is striking when compared with districts reporting much higher rates. In government hospitals, Chitradurga recorded the highest C-section rate at 81%, followed by Chikkamagaluru and Chamarajanagar (75% each), Gadag and Bagalkote (74%), and Hassan (73%). In private hospitals, Chitradurga again topped the list with 81%, followed by Tumakuru (80%), Vijayapura (79%), Chikkamagaluru (75%) and Gadag (74%).

Dakshina Kannada District Health Officer (DHO) Dr H.R. Thimmayya attributed the district's relatively low rate to increased awareness among expectant mothers, improved healthcare services and better monitoring of pregnancies.

"Regular antenatal check-ups, counselling and timely follow-up have helped promote normal deliveries wherever medically feasible. Greater awareness among families has also contributed to reducing unnecessary surgical interventions," he said.

Dr Thimmayya also credited some private medical college hospitals in the district that conduct free deliveries under their CSR initiatives. The availability of quality maternity care across both public and private sectors, he said, has helped ensure that C-sections are performed only when medically necessary.



The district's performance stands out against findings of the recently released National Family Health Survey-6 (NFHS-6), which showed that Karnataka registered the sharpest increase in C-section deliveries in the country. While the national average stands at 27.2%, Karnataka's rate has climbed to 45.7%. Urban Karnataka reported a rate of 52.6%, compared to 40.2% in rural areas. Private hospitals recorded a C-section rate of 63.8%, nearly double the 34% reported in government facilities.

Dr Siri Ganesh, consultant obstetrician and gynaecologist at KMC, Mangaluru, said higher C-section rates in private hospitals are often influenced by patient preference and medico-legal concerns. Many expectant mothers from affluent backgrounds opt for surgical delivery to avoid prolonged labour and the uncertainties associated with vaginal births, he noted.

To address concerns over rising surgical births, Dr Thimmayya said the Health Department has constituted a committee to study hospitals reporting unusually high C-section rates. The committee's report is in its final stages and will soon be submitted to the Deputy Commissioner, following which corrective measures will be considered.

Wife, paramour poison accident victim to death

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Belagavi

A man, who reportedly suffered only minor injuries in a road accident three months ago, is suspected to have been murdered by his wife and her lover by poisoning while undergoing treatment in a hospital. Investigators allege that the duo administered the poison through a saline drip during his hospitalisation.

The victim, identified as Sandeep Manjargi (46), a resident of Ghodgeri village in Hukkeri taluk, met with an accident near Ghatprabha on March 13. According to reports, Sandeep was admitted to a hospital in Ghataprabha for treatment. His wife and lover, who targeted a Rs 2 crore life insurance claim, poisoned him, the police said.

The doctors were reportedly preparing to discharge him from the hospital when he was found dead on March 15, three days after admission. Following standard procedures, a postmortem examination was conducted, and his last rites were performed at his native village. At the time, family members and authorities believed his death was related to the accident.

However, the case took a dramatic turn during a subsequent investigation led by Yamkanmardi Police Inspector Javed Mushapuri. Preliminary findings reportedly suggest that Sandeep was poisoned through a saline infusion while receiving treatment at the hospital, suspectedly by his wife and her lover. With court approval, authorities have ordered the exhumation of Sandeep's remains.

Waste littered near Tungabhadra river in Hampi | Express

Polluted Tungabhadra river raises concern among Hampi locals

KIRAN BALANNANAVAR @ Hampi

RIVER Tungabhadra near the historic Virupaksha Temple in Hampi has come under scrutiny for increasing pollution, with local residents and environmental activists blaming inadequate maintenance by the district administration.

According to local residents, tourists and pilgrims visiting the temple frequently take a holy dip in the river and discard clothes, ritual materials and other waste on the riverbank. The accumulation of the garbage has sparked concerns over sanitation and environmental degradation.

Residents alleged that the authorities have failed to conduct regular cleaning, allowing waste to pile up at one of Hampi's most visited locations. They said the situation has worsened in recent months despite repeated appeals to the administration.

Environmental activists warned that the pollution is not only affecting the river ecosystem but also damaging the image of Hampi, a UNESCO World Heritage Site, that attracts thousands of visitors every year. Virupakshi V Hampi, President of the Villages Welfare Association under HWHAMA, expressed concern over the issue and urged the authorities to take immediate corrective measures.

"The Tungabhadra river is an integral part of Hampi's heritage and culture. The increasing pollution near the Virupaksha Temple is alarming. The administration must ensure regular cleaning of the riverbanks, install adequate waste disposal facilities and create awareness among tourists and pilgrims to maintain cleanliness. Protecting the river is essential for preserving Hampi's ecological and cultural legacy," he said.

55-yr-old woman shoots self, trigger unclear: Cops

CHIKKAMAGALURU: A housewife shot herself to death with a revolver at Halenahalli Extension in Chikkamagaluru city on Thursday. Reports said the woman, Suma (55) was alone in the house at the time of the incident. Her husband Rajesh runs a coffee business. Preliminary reports indicate that Suma left behind a death note. Investigators have not yet confirmed what caused her to take the extreme step, even though it is suspected that deteriorating physical health could be the trigger. Superintendent of Police Jitendra Kumar Dayama visited the crime scene and led the preliminary investigation. The police have seized the revolver and the death note. "At this stage, it appears to be a case of suicide, and the investigation is ongoing. Until then, the contents of the note cannot be disclosed," a police official said. Suma's son has lodged a complaint with the Basavanahalli Police Station, the SP said. ENS

Deputy Chief Minister Dr G Parameshwara meets Tiptur MLA K Shadakshari at a hospital in New Delhi on Thursday | EXPRESS

Tiptur MLA falls sick in Delhi, rushed to hosp

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

SENIOR Congress leader and Tiptur MLA K Shadakshari (77) was rushed to a private hospital at Saket in New Delhi on Thursday after he fell ill at the Karnataka Bhavan with complaints of uneasiness and difficulty in breathing.

He has been admitted to the ICU and his condition is said to be stable. Deputy Chief Minister Dr G Parameshwara visited him in hospital.

Shadakshari had gone to Delhi a couple of days ago to call on high command leaders seeking a ministerial post in the DK Shivakumar cabinet. Many senior leaders wished him speedy recovery.

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar visited him in the ICU and inquired about his health.

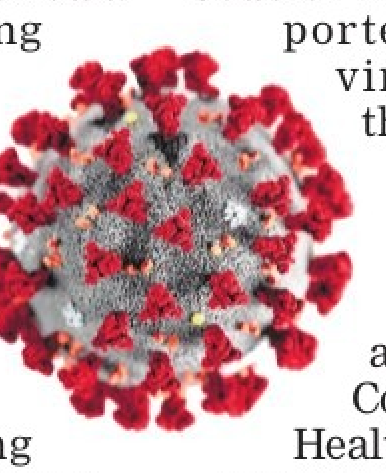
KERALA ON ALERT AS NIPAH, SHIGELLA CASES RAISE PUBLIC HEALTH CONCERNS

ANNA JOSE @Kochi



KERALA is witnessing a resurgence of infectious diseases, with a fresh Nipah virus case, a rise in Shigella infections and the continued circulation of influenza prompting health authorities to strengthen surveillance and containment measures.

The state has reported a surge in Shigella cases, with 38 infections and one death recorded in June alone. With the onset of the monsoon and changing climatic conditions, experts have called for heightened public health vigilance to prevent potential outbreaks. Meanwhile, the Kerala Health Department has stepped up surveillance and preparedness in Kozhikode district after the National Institute of Virology, Pune, confirmed Nipah virus infection in a 43-year-old man from Ramanattukara. The case marks the 11th episode of Nipah virus infection reported in Kerala since the virus was first detected in the state in 2018.

The patient, a resident of the fifth division of Ramanattukara Municipality, is undergoing treatment at the Government Medical College Hospital, Kozhikode. Health authorities have initiated extensive contact tracing following the confirmation. The district administration has identified 77 people who may have been exposed to the patient. The contacts have been categorised into highest-risk, high-risk and low-risk groups, with those in the higher-risk categories placed under quarantine and observation.

State Health Minister K. Muraleedharan on Thursday said six people had tested positive for Shigella in Thiruvananthapuram, two in Kollam and three in Kozhikode.

This is in addition to the nine cases reported in Wayanad. Shigella is a bacterial infection that causes diarrhoea, fever and stomach cramps. It spreads primarily through contaminated food or water and through contact with infected individuals. Referring to the situation in Wayanad, where a majority of those infected are students of an aided school, Muraleedharan said a strong bacterial presence had been detected in the institution's well water, indicating contamination.

Man strangles sis to death, held; police refute honour killing

ENS @Thoothukudi

The Kayathar police in Tamil Nadu on Thursday arrested the brother and the mother of a 19-year-old woman over her murder.

Police which had initially registered a case of alleged suicide have converted it to a case of murder, though they ruled out an honour killing, but said she was strangulated by her 21-year-old brother during a quarrel over her frequent online contacts with a man.

Initial reports claimed S Abiselvi had committed suicide after she was chided by her mother a few days ago for opposing an affair with a man from Salem whom she had come across on Instagram. But the autopsy revealed she was strangulated.

Abiselvi was found dead at her house at Therku Mayilodai village, near Kayathar, on Tuesday. Her body was shifted to the Tirunelveli government medical college hospital following a complaint of suicide.

An interrogation of her brother, S Sivagnanam, with the receipt of the autopsy report revealed that he had a scuffle with her after he noticed her messages to a man on Instagram, despite warning her not to do so.

Sivagnanam happened to check her Instagram account, which showed her messages to the man, said a police officer.

The family had opposed the affair when it came to light a year ago. Thereafter, the two neither had a relationship nor a friendly affair, he said, adding, however, the young woman used to send messages to him regularly. In rage, Sivagnanam strangulated her with her shawl, resulting in her death. To conceal the murder, Sivagnanam and his mother lodged a police complaint stating that she had killed herself.

NITI AAYOG MEET

Medical admission should be based on Class 12 marks: Vijay

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

COMMITTING to work constructively with the centre while firmly safeguarding the interests of Tamil Nadu, Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay in his first speech at the Niti Aayog meeting on Thursday urged the centre to release Rs 3,284-crore Samagra Shiksha Abhiyan (SSA) due without linking it to implementation of National Education Policy or three-language system.

Speaking at the meeting chaired by Prime Minister Narendra Modi in New Delhi, he reiterated Tamil Nadu's opposition to NEET. He said that the state should be permitted to fill all seats under the state quota in MBBS, BDS, and AYUSH courses based solely on Class 12 marks.

The CM demanded centre's support for a Youth Skill and Employment Mission to offer stipend-supported internships and industry-linked training to five lakh youth every year.

The CM said Tamil Nadu wholeheartedly supports the nation's aspirations and firmly believes that a developed India can be built only through empowered states, cooperative federalism, and inclusive development.

He also added that states that have demonstrated fiscal responsibility, social progress, and population stabilisation should be recognised and adequately supported, and must not be disadvantaged.

The CM also sought Centre's support for a High Speed Rail Corridor from Chennai to Kanniyakumari.

He also demanded sanctioning of second AIIMS to Tamil Nadu to be built in Coimbatore, declaring Thirukkural as national literature, ensuring protection to Tamil Nadu fishermen in the Palk Bay and securing the release of jailed fishermen in Sri Lanka and Pakistan.

Revanth takes up Tummidihatti Barrage issue with PM

HYDERABAD: With no response from Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis to requests for a meeting, Chief Minister Revanth Reddy has turned to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to help advance talks on the Tummidihatti Barrage and secure early approvals and support for the Palamuru-Rangareddy Lift Irrigation Scheme. On Thursday, Revanth met Modi in Delhi on the sidelines of the 11th NITI Aayog Governing Council meeting, seeking the Centre's support for key infrastructure, education, industrial and connectivity projects. He also outlined Telangana Rising vision, which aims to transform the state into a $1 trillion economy by 2034 and a $3 trillion economy by 2047. Seeking support in the education sector, Revanth requested the establishment of an Indian Institute of Management (IIM) in Hyderabad.

Will raise issues concerning state, country in RS: Mansoor

AS only four candidates filed nominations, elections were not necessitated, and as a result, Assembly Secretary MK Vishalakshi declared the four candidates elected unanimously to the Upper House.

Khera, who was in Vidhana Soudha, told reporters that it was a matter of great pride for him. "It is a matter of great pride for me that I was given this opportunity by my leadership to serve the people of Karnataka through the Rajya Sabha seat here. I hope to do justice to all the aspirations. I also hope that the next time when I address you (media), I'll try and speak in Kannada, which is a beautiful language," he said, after receiving his election certificate.

It is Khera's maiden entry into Parliament. He started his career as political secretary to former Delhi CM Sheila Dikshit. He had worked closely in the Congress war room ahead of 2023 Assembly polls in Karnataka.

Mansoor Ali Khan had lost from Bengaluru Central in the 2024 Lok Sabha polls by a whisker. He was in the limelight in the vote-theft campaign launched by LoP Rahul Gandhi in the Lok Sabha, alleging that the BJP had won the Bengaluru Central seat by illegal means in the Mahadevapura Assembly constituency.

Mansoor said that he will take up the issues of the state and the country in the Rajya Sabha.

Prof M Nagaraja, who hails from the Kuruba community, is an academician from Hubballi. An RSS member, he had served as ABVP state president, state BJP vice-president, and a member of the Karnataka Public Service Commission in the past.

He thanked BJP central leaders, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Home Minister Amit Shah and the state BJP core committee, which proposed his name. "I am an ordinary party worker. I will make use of the opportunity to meet the expectations of the party," he said.

Anti-SIR groups to launch statewide rally from June 13

BENGALURU : Alleging that the State Election Commission has failed to address objections and concerns raised by citizens over the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of the electoral rolls, the Anti-SIR alliance parties and Janapara Sangatanegala Okkuta Karnataka have announced a statewide public awareness campaign titled 'Eddelu Karnataka' (Awake Karnataka) from June 13 to June 18. The groups have put forward a series of demands, including that logical discrepancy software should not be used in the revision process. They have also sought that gram sabhas be convened after the draft electoral rolls are prepared and that the final list be published only after incorporating public feedback. They further demanded that transparency be ensured by making the data available in a machine-readable format and that citizens be given at least six months to file appeals, raise objections and submit the necessary documents. A resistance conference will be held at Freedom Park in Bengaluru on June 20 for the demand that the State Election Commission answer to civil society and address the concerns raised by the groups.

GOVT MUST EXPEDITE TEJAS, NOT MERELY PENALISE HINDUSTAN AERONAUTICS

HINDUSTAN Aeronautics Limited (HAL) has come under increasing scrutiny for its continued inability to deliver the Tejas Mk1A fighter aircraft to the Indian Air Force (IAF) on schedule. The programme is already running more than two years behind, with further slippages likely as the aerospace major grapples with the complex task of integrating an advanced radar system with the aircraft's electronic warfare suite and mission computers. The delays have, in turn, pushed back missile-firing trials and full weapons-package validation—critical milestones that cannot be compromised.

The Tejas programme traces its origins to 1983, when the Centre authorised the Defence Research and Development Organisation to develop an indigenous fighter aircraft to eventually replace the ageing MiG-21 fleet. More than four decades later, the IAF has inducted only 40 Tejas Mk1 aircraft, including trainer variants. They currently equip No 45 Squadron, the Flying Daggers, at Sulur in Tamil Nadu, and No 18 Squadron, the Flying Bullets, at Naliya in Gujarat.

The stakes are considerably higher now. HAL is tasked with delivering 180 Tejas Mk1A fighters—83 under the initial contract signed in 2021 and another 97 ordered in 2025. The aircraft forms a crucial pillar of the IAF's long-term force structure plans. The service aims to raise its squadron strength from the present 29 to the sanctioned 42, with a projected Tejas fleet of 324 aircraft. Beyond the Mk1A, the IAF is also counting on the timely development and induction of the more capable Tejas Mk2.

The IAF's impatience is understandable. Delays in induction affect operational preparedness at a time when both China and Pakistan are steadily modernising their air arms with platforms such as the JF-17 Thunder and the J-10C. Prolonged slippages also carry the risk of technological obsolescence, as aerospace technologies evolve rapidly and competing platforms continue to advance.

Yet, while accountability is necessary, financial penalties alone are unlikely to solve the problem. HAL remains a government-owned enterprise executing a strategically vital national programme. The larger question is whether the delays stem merely from managerial shortcomings or from systemic challenges involving technology development, supply chains, certification processes and coordination among stakeholders.

Given the strategic importance of the Tejas programme, the defence ministry must focus on resolving the bottlenecks. India's indigenous fighter programme is too important to be viewed solely through the prism of contractual penalties. The priority should be to ensure that HAL receives the institutional, technological and administrative support necessary to accelerate deliveries and meet the IAF's operational requirements. The objective must be to get Tejas into service at the earliest—not merely to punish those responsible for the delay.

CONSERVATION BOOST FROM HISTORY MADE IN SIMILIPAL

WHEN Odisha Chief Minister Mohan Charan Majhi last week broke the news of Maharashtra-born tigress Zeenat giving birth to four cubs in the Similipal Tiger Reserve, he acknowledged a landmark in India's conservation history. It was the country's first successfully implemented genetic rescue of an isolated tiger population. The four-year-old big cat was translocated from Maharashtra's Tadoba-Andhari reserve along with another tigress in 2024. Once released into the unfamiliar habitat far from home, young Zeenat unexpectedly went on a three-week journey that took her across three states, leaving forest staff on tenterhooks. It was eventually captured in West Bengal's Bankura district, brought back and kept in a soft enclosure before being released again. Under a carefully-designed plan and 24x7 surveillance by a dedicated team, Zeenat felt comfortable enough to settle down in Similipal and find companionship over the next year. Now with a litter of four, she might have revived Odisha's only tiger-bearing habitat by diversifying the gene pool.

The outcome is more than just a conservation milestone. Tiger re-introductions have been successfully attempted in India in the past, too. Sariska in Rajasthan and Panna in Madhya Pradesh had witnessed population collapses in the early 2000s, but reintroductions revived those populations. In Maharashtra's Navegaon-Nagzira reserve, translocation from another landscape within the state succeeded in 2024 and is being replicated in the Sahyadri reserve. Similar translocations have borne fruit in the tiger landscapes of central and Shivalik-Gangetic plains, too.

However, Similipal presented a more complex challenge. Delinked from the central tiger landscape, its population remained restricted for decades and shrank at the beginning of the century. Although the numbers grew with improved management, the emergence of the magnificent melanistic tigers revealed a dark truth—inbreeding resulting in a dwindling gene pool. Given the danger it posed, the National Tiger Conservation Authority suggested a supplementation programme and offered support.

Odisha not only showed courage in accepting the risk but also proved that science-led conservation can deliver if administrations back crucial projects. The genetic rescue project also signals a shift in India's conservation thinking—from saving tigers to ensuring their populations remain genetically resilient, adaptable and ecologically viable in the long term. Similipal offers a conservation template the world could learn from.

AVOIDING HONEY TRAPS

THE revelation that a judicial officer in Haryana allegedly fell for an online romance scam, transferred more than ₹52 lakh to the accused and then got her house help to lodge a police complaint holds various lessons. The case came to light at a recent bail hearing in a Delhi court. A judge succumbing to a dating-app scam shows that even the better-informed among us may not be immune to such machinations. Awareness campaigns against such scheming must permeate popular mediums like OTT series so that the conversation widens. Those in positions of power must show courage in exposing such plots even at the cost of embarrassment.

The reason India fails to build deep-tech titans despite having a huge talent pool lies in how we train our engineers. Four simultaneous reforms can put us on the map

MAKING ENGINEERS WHO CAN ENGINEER NATION'S SUCCESS

HARISH N DIXIT
Professor, Centre for Interdisciplinary Programs, IIT Hyderabad

ANURAG TRIPATHI
Associate Professor, Department of Physics, IIT Hyderabad

EVERY year, India mints roughly 15 lakh fresh engineering graduates. Add to this the fact that one in every six humans on the planet is Indian. By a reasonable arithmetic of talent, we may aspire to have roughly one in six of the world's most valuable deep-tech companies founded on Indian soil. Why is that not the case?

As artificial intelligence absorbs more routine cognitive work, the engineers whose value endures will be those who build. Now imagine a pavilion under which a nation of builders can invent, design and make. Such a structure can be raised by four pillars—standing for four reforms—bearing equal load. Erect three to perfection and leave the fourth unraised, and the roof never goes up. Raise even one weakly, and the whole structure tilts. Each of these four reforms addresses a different stage in the making of an engineer.

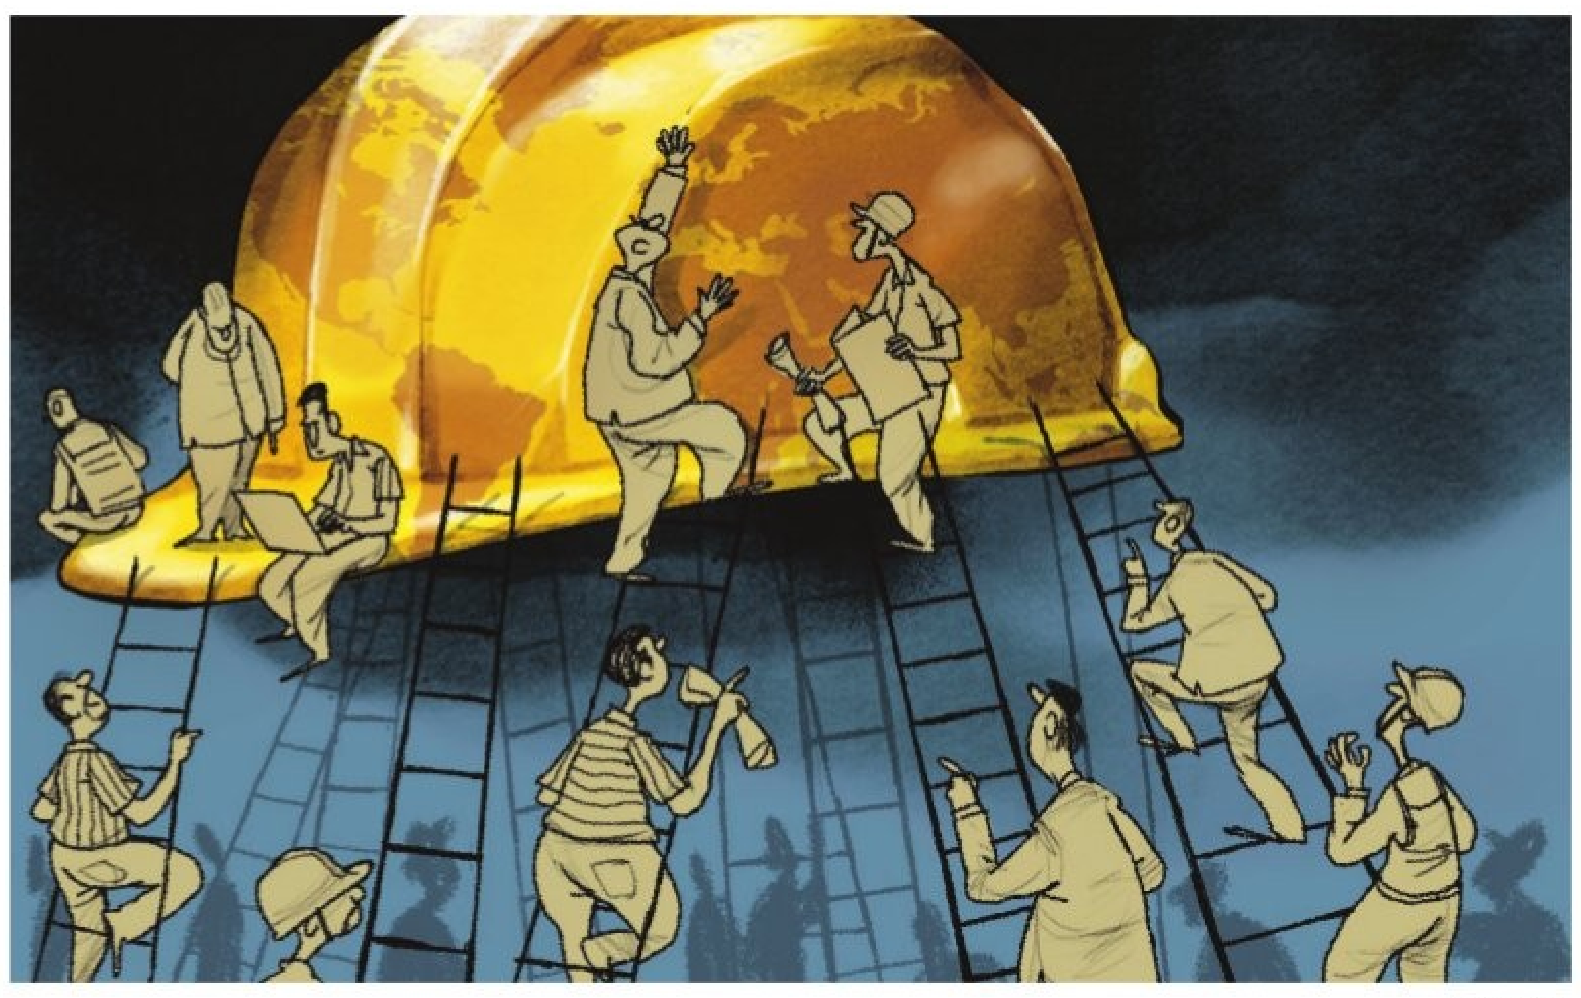
Signal that building matters: Entrance exams to India's elite engineering institutions—most prominently, the IITs' Joint Entrance Examination—are analytically demanding. The challenge is that they stand today as the only signal reaching students, parents and schools—and that signal asks nothing about building, making or the hands-on work that defines an engineer. This signal shapes the behaviour at every level in society.

We propose a 'maker portfolio' as a supplementary admissions component. Structured documentation of sustained, hands-on work—a project designed and built, a device assembled, an experiment run. It need not be sophisticated, but it must be real. Candidates would still clear the JEE; after that threshold, the portfolio would carry meaningful weight—as a tie-breaker, bonus or a dedicated pathway for a small number of seats. Once that signal lands and behaviour changes, students tinker, parents stop dismissing making, schools create space for projects.

Forming builders in schools: The science curriculum in grades 9-12 is heavily weighted toward abstract theory and examination-ready content. Real-world applications—the very hook that makes science truly exciting for a 12-year-old—appear as sidebars rather than entry points.

Imagine, instead, a classroom where every student winds a coil and watches the small motor they have built begin to spin, or aligns lenses into a working telescope and turns it toward the moon. The brushless DC motor was conceived by engineers who had spent years with motors in their hands, not invented in a lecture hall.

School science textbooks for the grades should be reimagined around four principles: every concept grounded in a real-world application, regular open-ended projects rather than only confirmatory labs, every student producing a tangible artefact and non-essential topics excised to free classroom time for what matters. These artefacts feed directly into the maker portfolio—what you build in school can help you reach an elite engineering institution.



SOURAV ROY

Forging teachers into builders: Most of India's school science teachers were themselves trained in the same theory-heavy, examination-oriented system within which they now teach. Many entered the profession before hands-on pedagogy was widely emphasised. They are part of a system that asked one thing of them in training and now asks something different in their classrooms.

We propose a national, mission-mode teacher training initiative anchored by the IITs and National Institutes of Technology. Their faculty would design and lead modular, practice-based programmes—low-cost experiments and the facilitation of open-ended student projects—through in-person workshops paired with sustained online mentoring. Teachers who have built become teachers who can teach others to build.

Making engineering colleges engineer: Suppose a student arrives at an engineering college genuinely excited to create. What do they typically find? More theory. More examinations. More lectures. Laboratory sessions, where they exist, are largely confirmatory—in a typical electrical engineering lab, students do not assemble circuits on breadboards but encounter pre-built apparatus on which they may only turn knobs and press buttons.

We propose a substantial transformation of the BTech curriculum: required, assessed exposure to fabrication, electronics and computational tools from the first year; multi-semester design-build-test projects that take a problem from concept to working prototype; and interdisciplinary studios, maker spaces and industry-linked challenges in place of some theory-heavy electives. Every graduate who leaves campus should be able to point to something they built, not just a transcript of courses passed.

Each of these reforms has been attempted, in isolation, somewhere in India over the past several decades. The overall system has not shifted. The reason is structural.

Reform undergraduate curriculums but leave admissions unchanged, and students arrive having optimised their adolescence for entrance examinations rather than for making. Reform school science but leave teacher training unchanged, and the new curriculum collects dust in a government document. Reform teacher training but leave admissions unchanged, and students and parents will rationally ignore making, because it carries no weight in the one thing that decides their future.

This is the structural truth of the pavilion. The only intervention that works raises all four pillars together, each to its full height, so that the same message—building matters—holds firm at every stage.

The maker portfolio must explicitly value low-cost, locally constrained forms of making. India already has over 10,000 Atal Tinkering Labs in schools across the country—many of them in government schools—and work produced in these labs should count directly toward the portfolio. What matters is not the sophistication of the tool but the evidence of genuine engagement. Designed with equity as a constraint, not an afterthought, these reforms can actively broaden access, not narrow it.

This proposal needs no new institution or regulatory body. NCERT can redesign school science textbooks; UGC can recognise experiential learning; the All India Council for Technical Education can mandate minimum hands-on credit requirements. IITs and NITs can pilot maker portfolio-based admissions and anchor national teacher training. Industry can contribute problem statements, mentors and commercialisation pathways.

What is needed is coordination and the political will to treat all four pillars as a single structure. These pillars can raise the roof—but they must come up together.

PUBLISHING IN POST-TRUTH WORLD

PRATIK KANJILAL
Senior Fellow, Henry J Leir Institute of Migration and Human Security, Fletcher School, Tufts University

SPEAKEASY

IN 2014, Penguin Random House India (hereafter, Penguin for convenience) settled out of court with Dinanath Batra, the ageing general secretary of RSS school network Vidya Bharati and founder of an organisation committed to purging Indian education of foreign influences. It was unconditional surrender—Penguin agreed to withdraw and pulp all copies of Chicago scholar Wendy Doniger's The Hindus: An Alternative History. It capitulated in the face of the familiar charges of hurting religious feelings, besides safety concerns.

There was dismay. Someone had waved a stick at the most powerful Indian publisher and it had surrendered. How would smaller publishers fare after this? Now, under the same leadership in India, Penguin has reprised its dubious triumph. It has dropped plans to distribute in India graphic reporter Joe Sacco's 2025 book, The Once and Future Riot, which cuts through the fog around the Muzaffarnagar riots of 2013.

Once more, it is a rout—apparently, Penguin wanted Sacco to remove "red flags" and update a map to risk-proof the distributor, and he wouldn't. Once more, there is dismay. Ram Guha calls the drawdown "pusillanimous". Arundhati Roy hopes Sacco finds "a braver distributor".

The dismay over Doniger's book was in context. It was February 2014, a prelapsarian time—the last days of Manmohan Singh's government, when people were still confident that they had freedom of expression and the ability to defend it. Why is there dismay now, when some of us actually have even more freedom of expression? As the rupee inches towards the 100 mark against the dollar, a member of the Economic Advisory Council to the PM says that it's "just a number". Much earlier, the finance minister said that her family does not eat onions, so they have no experience of inflation.

There is celebration of Narendra Modi's victory over Jawaharlal Nehru in an endurance contest that was unheard of until he became 'India's longest-serving PM'. The claim is true with this technical qualifier: "continuously elected". But who remembers these details? Salient facts are being ignored—that Nehru's tenure was terminated by Death, who does not contest elections, and that if Nehru were alive, he would have laughed at this childish contest.

But it's 2026, and we must not let facts interfere with a good narrative. Now, we have complete freedom of expression because fact and fiction are no longer exclusive categories. Being able to say anything at all, even to freely lie and be lied to, represents untrammelled freedom of expression. Even Voltaire failed to soar this high. Enjoy responsibly, as the liquor ads overseas say.

When people overseas think unapproved thoughts about us, their freedom of expression is endangered. Doniger was rubbished as a bad scholar with a dirty mind.

> Publishers who matter think like incubators of culture, not risk managers. The recent withdrawal of Joe Sacco's graphic narrative on the 2013 Muzaffarnagar riots fits the latter description. Some publishers have shown the gumption to put out texts despite push-backs

The first charge is for other scholars to decide. The second, fortunately, is selectively applied. Popular mythologist Devdutt Pattanaik, who often ponders sexuality in Indian myth, has escaped unpleasant attention. Bhagwan Rajneesh drew on sexual narratives in Indian mythology and Tantra, and conflated them with European psychology. But he was Osho, and the public culture wasn't so grumpy then.

Returning to Sacco's book, Penguin was horripilated by a little map of the subcontinent at the time of Partition, no bigger than 2x2 inches, which depicts Pakistan Occupied Kashmir as Pakistani territory. That falls foul of the Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1961, which criminalised a certain kind of mapmaking. But this is India, so there's jugaad—customs officials cover the map with a black patch, often seen in imported copies of The Economist, a serial offender.

Earlier, a government-issue rubber stamp was used, which hectored: "The external boundaries of India as depicted are neither correct nor authentic." The 1994 edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica went undistributed for months because in every copy, a map of India had to be stamped by customs officials who could have been gainfully employed catching smugglers instead. Like so many Indian solutions, the stamp is an ugly jugaad, but it works. It could have worked for Penguin.

The Once and Future Riot is a graphic book. The communal violence it depicts is, by default, graphic. But it depicts reality, so it is not more graphic than videos on social media, YouTube channels and TV. And the 'red flags' that Penguin balked at are criticisms of public figures, the ruling party and society which are routinely expressed across media.

What's the problem, then? "We are trying to reach a riot… The riot happened more than a year ago," writes Joe Sacco in the first chapter, 'The Great Untruth'. "But what we seek isn't just the fading memory of an actual event: we want the fiction, the myth, the imposter that is taking its place." In a post-truth world, that's a dangerous manifesto.

Publishing has a public function. It can light the flarepath to a brighter, more humane future. Publishers who matter think like incubators of culture, not like risk managers who got confused on the way to a rewarding but obscure career in merchant banking.

After being pulped by Penguin, Doniger's book was published in India by Speaking Tiger, a discerning publisher with only a fraction of Penguin's resources. Perhaps Sacco will find a "braver distributor", and in hindsight, our only takeaway will be that Penguin India has a native talent for bad publicity. There is such a thing, if you're talented enough to seek it out.

Fixes domestic care loss at ₹30,000 monthly in accident claims ● Slams entrenched patriarchal bias for male child

Homemakers are 'nation builders': SC

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @New Delhi

ALSO IN TOP COURT

No psychological evaluation of kids: SC

The SC on Thursday issued detailed guidelines on assessing children involved in custody battles, cautioning family courts against ordering psychological evaluation of minors unless essential. The bench held that courts should first evaluate the mental state of the parents before considering assessment of child.

₹25L for man injured in tree branch crash

The SC on Thursday came to the rescue of a man, who was left paralysed in a freak incident nearly 19 years ago when a tree branch fell on his autorickshaw in Bengaluru, by enhancing compensation to ₹25 lakh. The top court held that in such cases, a claim seeking compensation under section 166 of the Motor Vehicles Act.

IN a significant ruling, the Supreme Court on Thursday recognised homemakers as nation builders and held that the loss of domestic care services should be counted as a separate head of compensation. The Court set a notional monthly income of ₹30,000 for computing the loss.

A two-judge bench of the apex court, headed by Justice Sanjay Karol and comprising Justice N Kotiswar Singh, highlighted the economic worth of unpaid household work and said the term "homemaker" should now stand for "nation builder".

"Housewives contribute to the household. They are nation builders. They build the nation. How do you assess that contribution and monetise it? The word 'homemaker' would now acquire the acronym of nation builder," the bench observed.

The Court, in its ruling, further added that it had passed directions and expressed hope and trust that the Chief Justices of all High Courts would oversee the issue.

"We have evolved a new principle and laid down that the loss of domestic care should be monetised at a minimum of ₹30,000 per month, in addition to all other available avenues under the Supreme Court judgment in the Pranay Sethi case," said Justice Karol while pronouncing the operative part of the judgment.

The operational portion of the ruling says, "…for the three major heads (the homemaker's contribution towards smooth functioning of the household, the loss of maternal support for children and loss of spousal support/the support and care of their child who is an adult, for the parents of the deceased) …, a composite sum of ₹30,000/- shall be added under the head of 'loss of domestic care', provided that all three of these heads are met in the given case. This determination shall be revised by 10%, cumulatively, every three years."

The Bench said, "It is ironic to describe a homemaker as dependant on earning members, when, in reality the household's functioning depends substantially on the homemaker."

The bench further added that the loss of domestic care must be treated as an additional head of compensation, recognising the significant yet often unpaid contribution of homemakers to families and society.

The apex court pronounced the judgment after hearing an appeal arising from a motor accident claim in Punjab, where a woman named Reshma died in a road accident in November 2001. Following this, her husband and three children approached the Motor Accident Claims Tribunal seeking compensation.

'ENFORCEMENT OF PCPNDT ACT MUST BE DONE STRICTLY'

Illegal tests persist: SC

The PCPNDT Act bars sex selection before or after conception and regulates prenatal diagnostic techniques to stop their misuse. Hearing a plea on implementation of the act, the court said illegal sex determination persists through unregistered machines and clandestine clinics despite the ban. It directed authorities to carry out regular inspections, take strict action against offenders.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has come down heavily on the socially entrenched patriarchal bias for a male child and covert use of sex-selection methods. On Thursday, it said that the Pre-Conception and Pre-Natal Diagnostic Techniques (PCPNDT) Act must be strictly enforced until societal mindset changes.

A bench of Justices Sanjay Karol and Prashant Kumar Mishra pointed to schemes like "Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao", "Janani Suraksha Yojana" and "Ladli Lakshmi Yojana" as evidence of ongoing efforts to address the systemic bias against girls in a patriarchal set-up.

The court noted that while progress has been made, significant work still remains to be done. "The preference for a male child continues to plague our society. Legislation alone cannot change mindset, but the PCPNDT Act is a vital instrument to check sex-selective practices," the bench observed.

Hearing a plea on effective implementation of the 1994 act, the court said illegal sex determination persists through unregistered machines and clandestine clinics despite the ban. It directed authorities to carry out regular inspections, take strict action against offenders and run awareness campaigns to counter social bias. "Until the mentality changes, the law must be enforced in letter and spirit. The goal is prevention, not just punishment," the bench added.

Modi heads to France, Slovakia as India pushes innovation & tech ties

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi will embark on a five-day visit to France and Slovakia beginning June 13, with the trip expected to deepen India's strategic partnership with France, boost technology and innovation cooperation, and expand engagement with Europe amid a rapidly evolving global geopolitical landscape. The France leg of the visit will begin in Nice at the invitation of French President Emmanuel Macron. The two leaders are scheduled to hold comprehensive talks covering defence, civil nuclear energy, innovation, critical technologies and key regional and international developments, including the evolving situation in West Asia.

"This is a relationship that has been characterised by exceptional warmth, trust, regularity of contact, and a very strong personal rapport between the two leaders," Additional Secretary (Europe West) Piyush Srivastava said during a special briefing on Thursday.

A key highlight of the visit will be the joint inauguration of Bharat Innovates, an initiative aimed at showcasing India's innovation ecosystem, startup landscape, digital public infrastructure, and advancements in sectors such as defence, space and clean energy.

Modi will then travel to Paris, where he will continue bilateral engagements and address VivaTech 2026, Europe's leading technology and startup conference. India is set to have the largest national pavilion at the event this year, which Modi and Macron will visit together.

The Prime Minister will also participate in the outreach sessions of the G7 Summit in France on June 16 and 17. According to MEA Secretary (West) Sibi George, discussions will focus on global growth, critical mineral supply chains, international development partnerships, online safety, organised crime and major geopolitical crises.

Following France, Modi will travel to Slovakia from June 14 to 16—the first visit by an Indian PM to the country since its independence in 1993.

MHA warns against rising fraud, AI deepfake targeting banks, fintechs

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE Indian Cyber Crime Coordination Centre (I4C), operating under the Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA), has issued a fresh advisory warning citizens, banks and fintech companies about a surge in Artificial Intelligence (AI)-powered deepfake fraud targeting India's digital financial systems.

The advisory, issued on Wednesday, cautioned that cybercriminals are increasingly deploying advanced AI tools to create convincing deepfake videos and synthetic identities designed to defeat facial authentication, liveness detection, video-based KYC checks and account recovery safeguards.

Officials in the I4C said fraudsters typically initiate contact through social media platforms, messaging apps, job portals, dating sites or direct phone calls. Victims may be persuaded to join video interactions during which natural facial movements—such as blinking, speaking, turning the head or focusing on the screen—are recorded. The victims are typically unaware of the intent.

'Complain immediately'

In cases of suspected fraud, victims have been asked to file complaints on the National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal, with details like the fraudster's contact information. Authorities said this is crucial to freezing funds.

The recordings are then processed using sophisticated AI software to generate realistic digital replicas capable of mimicking facial expressions, eye movements and even voice patterns. The resulting synthetic media can be deployed to bypass facial recognition and liveness verification systems, particularly where robust deepfake detection tools are not in place.

The I4C warned that once authentication safeguards are breached, criminals can fraudulently complete KYC formalities, activate digital wallets, open new financial accounts, or gain unauthorised access to existing banking and digital service accounts.

Describing AI-enabled identity fraud as a significant threat, the ministry urged financial institutions and fintech companies to strengthen their customer onboarding and verification frameworks. Institutions have been advised to integrate advanced deepfake detection and synthetic media identification technologies into their security architecture.

The advisory also sets out precautionary measures for individuals. Citizens are encouraged to lock their biometric data, closely monitor email and banking notifications for suspicious login attempts, and exercise caution during unsolicited online engagements.

Additionally, users have been advised to immediately contact their telecom service providers if they experience sudden loss of network connectivity.

It's either Abhishek or me: Aide to Didi

PREETHA NAIR @New Delhi

TRINAMOOL Congress chief Mamata Banerjee suffered a twin blow on Thursday as her trusted aide, Kalyan Banerjee, made a dramatic volte-face, issuing an ultimatum to her to choose between her nephew, Abhishek Banerjee, and senior party leaders. Meanwhile, Rajya Sabha MP Prakash Chik Baraik resigned from his post, further deepening the turmoil within the party.

However, Mamata found some relief as senior leaders Shatrughan Sinha, Babul Supriyo, Pratima Mandal, and Sougata Roy closed ranks behind her and announced their support for her leadership.

Kalyan Banerjee, one of the few remaining Mamata loyalists, said he would remain in the party only if Abhishek was removed from all leadership positions and retained solely as an ordinary worker.

The rift between the two escalated after Kalyan, who represented Abhishek in a CID forgery case, learned that Abhishek had filed a separate petition challenging search operations at TMC offices and Mamata's Kalighat residence.

Calcutta HC grants interim protection to TMC leader

The Calcutta HC on Thursday granted TMC MP Abhishek Banerjee interim protection from any coercive action in a signature forgery case over the party's choice of LoP in the Bengal assembly. Justice Kausik Chanda, while granting relief for three weeks, asked Banerjee to appear before CID at its headquarters. He later appeared before the agency.

Alleging that Abhishek behaved disrespectfully toward senior leaders and conducted himself with a "boss-like" attitude, Banerjee said the ball was now in Mamata's court.

Meanwhile, Baraik became the third MP to resign from the Rajya Sabha this week, following Sukhendu Sekhar Ray and Sushmita Dev. Baraik said his decision was prompted by the people's mandate in favor of the BJP in Bengal.

Sources said trouble for Mamata may intensify, with rebel MPs led by Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar expected to submit a letter signed by around 20 Lok Sabha MPs to Speaker Om Birla soon. The rebel faction may claim to be the "real TMC."

Though actor-turned-politician Shatrughan Sinha was rumored to be among the rebels, he told the media that he would not abandon Mamata in difficult times, noting that she had stood by him during a challenging phase in his political career. Veteran leader Sougata Roy also said that he, too, had grievances with TMC, but it was not "moral" to abandon a sinking ship.

Cong rules out 'merger' talks with Mamata

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

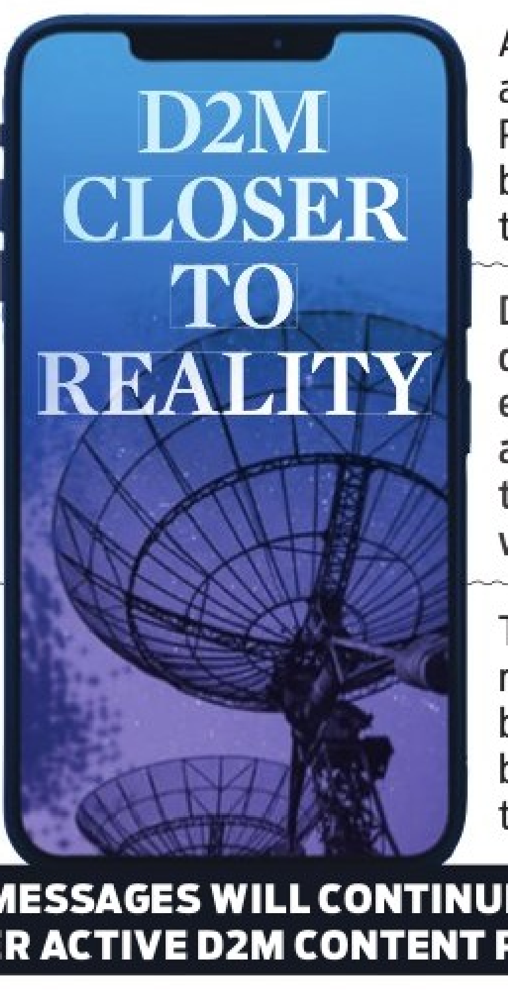
THE Congress on Thursday dismissed reports of a merger with Mamata Banerjee's Trinamool Congress (TMC) and termed it 'baseless rumours'.

Addressing a press conference, Congress General Secretary KC Venugopal said that discussions during a recent meeting with former West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee and her nephew Abhishek Banerjee were about national issues, and the issue of 'merger' did not figure. "Abhishek and Mamata ji met Sonia and Rahul Gandhi. That is part of INDIA bloc meeting."

"This is a total rumour. We have made it clear. The news of a merger is completely wrong and baseless," said Venugopal after a meeting with general secretaries, in-charges and state unit chiefs. Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge, senior leader Rahul Gandhi, and others attended the meeting.

Live broadcast on mobile sans net clears tests

PARVEZ SULTAN @New Delhi



D2M broadcasting has successfully cleared final trials, removing last major technical hurdle to rollout

Tests confirmed that D2M services can operate alongside mobile networks without disrupting calls or SMS services

Prasar Bharati is finalising the Detailed Project Report (DPR), which has been submitted to the MIB

After DPR approval, a Request for Proposal (RFP) will be issued to take the project forward

D2M enables direct delivery of live TV, emergency alerts and data services to mobile devices without internet

Tech can ease net congestion by offloading broadcast-heavy traffic

CALLS AND SMS MESSAGES WILL CONTINUE TO RECEIVE PRIORITY OVER ACTIVE D2M CONTENT PLAYBACK

DIRECT-to-Mobile (D2M) broadcasting technology has successfully cleared a fresh round of laboratory and field tests. The results demonstrate that D2M services can operate alongside mobile telephony service without causing any disruption to voice calls or SMS services. The successful tests are being seen as removing the last major technical obstacle to the technology's rollout. Following this positive outcome, Prasar Bharati is working on finalisation of a Detailed Project Report (DPR) to produce a comprehensive blueprint for execution, sources said.

"The technology has passed its final critical trials establishing its widespread public or commercial release feasibility. With DPR preparations going on, Project structuring is also being worked out to find out how it will be funded, governed, and lawfully organised to mitigate risks and attract investors. The tests have established that calls and SMS messages retain priority over active D2M playback. It is at the final stage. Once the report is finalized, a Request for Proposal (RFP) will be issued to move the project forward," said sources.

The consultancy firm Ernst & Young (EY) appointed by Prasar Bharati as the project management consultant submitted the DPR to the public broadcaster and the same has already been forwarded to the ministry of information and broadcasting (MI&B), it is learnt. "DPR is being discussed for further consideration," sources added.

The field tests were conducted with MI&B), ministry of electronics and information technology (MeitY), the Indian Institute of Technology (IIT) Kanpur and other multiple government agencies around Kartavya Path in March.

D2M enables delivery of multimedia content such as live TV channels, video, audio, emergency alerts, and data services directly to mobile phones using terrestrial broadcast networks without relying on mobile internet or Wi-Fi.

To avail the service, the phones or devices require specific hardware to receive and decode broadcast signals. The technology may enable high-quality video and audio streaming as it doesn't depend on the variable speed and stability of an internet connection.

Prasar Bharati, the public broadcaster, earlier entered into an Memorandum of Understanding with IIT, Kanpur in 2019 to develop the next generation broadcast roadmap for digital terrestrial broadcasting consistent with emerging technological standards. IIT, Kanpur after doing a comparative analysis of the then available technologies, conducted the small-scale Proof of Concept (PoC) trial on D2M broadcasting in Bengaluru. A PoC is an exercise to determine whether an idea can be turned into a reality and check the feasibility. Subsequently, initial trials were conducted in different cities including Delhi, Noida, and Bengaluru.

According to the officials, the broadcasting technology can also help in easing congestion by shifting broadcast-heavy traffic away from conventional mobile networks during major live events like Indian Premier League matches. It can also help lower the cost of accessing audio and video content, since this technology will operate independent of expensive data packs.

PM tells Oppn CMs to work together for accelerating development journey

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi reportedly spent considerable time interacting with the chief ministers of Opposition-ruled states, much as he did with the CMs of BJP- and NDA-governed states, on the sidelines of NITI Aayog's 11th Governing Council meeting on Thursday.

"Guided by the spirit of cooperative federalism, we are working together to accelerate India's development journey. The collective efforts of the Centre and states will play a pivotal role in realising our shared vision of Viksit Bharat," Modi said in a post after the meeting.

'Interactions reflect spirit of federal coordination'

The NITI Aayog meeting witnessed deliberations on issues concerning the states. The CMs presented their states' priorities, seeking greater cooperation from the Centre. "Interactions between the PM and CMs of Opposition-ruled states reflected the spirit of federal coordination, which is essential if India is to achieve its goal of becoming a developed nation by 2047," a source said.

Chaired by the PM, the meeting witnessed deliberations on issues concerning the states. The CMs presented their states' priorities, seeking greater cooperation from the Centre. "Interactions between the PM and CMs of Opposition-ruled states reflected the spirit of federal coordination, which is essential if India is to achieve its goal of becoming a developed nation by 2047," a source said.

Tamil Nadu CM Vijay met the Prime Minister and discussed his state's requirements and challenges. Dressed in a black blazer and matching trousers, Vijay apprised Modi of his state's needs and sought support from the Centre. According to sources, the PM listened attentively to the issues raised.

Telangana CM Revanth Reddy presented Modi a silver memento depicting a decorated ox, symbolising Telangana's cultural heritage. He submitted documents and discussed about Telangana's problems and requirements. Sources said the PM warmly acknowledged the gesture and listened to Revanth Reddy's concerns.

Karnataka Chief Minister D K Shivakumar presented the Prime Minister a wooden sculpture of Basavana, the 12th-century philosopher and founder of the Lingayat faith.

Later, Shivakumar said in a post that he had a constructive discussion with the PM on Karnataka's development agenda. "Together, we can build a stronger Karnataka and contribute meaningfully to a stronger India," he said.

Jammu and Kashmir CM Omar Abdullah and the PM discussed issues concerning the Union territory in a cordial atmosphere, sources said, adding that Omar appeared satisfied after the interaction.

STALKING

Arunachal Pradesh Police has arrested a 19-year-old for allegedly stalking, trespassing, and attempting to outrage the modesty of women in two separate incidents, officials said on Thursday.

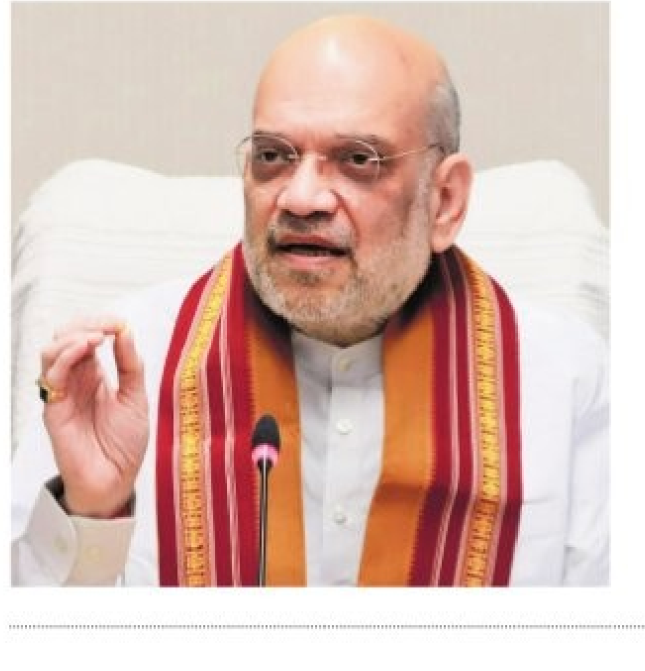
Shah says govt plans to lift AFSPA from next yr

Home minister flags improvement of security situation in Northeast

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi



HOME Minister Amit Shah on Thursday said that with the improvement of the security situation in Northeast, the government plans to completely withdraw the Armed Forces Special Powers Act (AFSPA) from almost the entire region by next year.

Addressing the gathering at the signing of memorandum of Understanding (MoU) among the Centre and governments of Nagaland and Assam for exploration of crude oil and natural gas, Shah said he was confident that the government would be able to completely withdraw AFSPA from majority of the areas in the region.

He said that the signing of the MoU reflects peace, stability and development in the region. "There was a time when discussions about the Northeast revolved around unrest and insurgency. Today, we are signing agreements for investment, energy exploration and economic growth. This transformation has been possible because peace has returned to the region," Shah said.

Highlighting the significant reduction in incidents of violence and the signing of 12 peace accords in the past few years, Shah said, "The government has already withdrawn AFSPA from large parts of the region in a phased manner. "Our government's goal is clear—as peace becomes permanent and stability strengthens, AFSPA will no longer be required. We are working towards the complete withdrawal of AFSPA from the entire Northeast by next year. Already, 80% of the region is free from AFSPA," he said.

Shah however, contended that decisions would be based on careful security assessments, ensuring that national security remains uncompromised while respecting the aspirations of the people of the region.

Shah praised Assam CM Himanta Biswa Sarma and Nagaland CM Neiphiu Rio, who were present on the occasion for their decision to not let their concerns hinder the extraction of oil resources, agreeing instead to a 50-50 sharing arrangement. "This is national wealth and I believe this sentiment is crucial. Today, a historic MoU has been signed between the Government of India, Government of Assam and the Government of Nagaland," he said.

Calling the agreement a "historic milestone for cooperative federalism and energy security," the minister said MoU reflects the Centre's unwavering commitment to inclusive growth.

'Energy security crucial'

Highlighting the global energy crisis due to the West Asia conflict, Shah said that energy security is key to any country's development and the initiative will bolster India's self-reliance. "I cannot say exactly how soon this agreement will help alleviate this specific crisis; but, I am confident that the initiative will provide India with significant relief."

After college, ₹1.77 cr found in Bengal school

SUBHENDU MAITI @ Kolkata

BUNDLES of notes of ₹500, ₹200 and ₹100, amounting to ₹1.77 crore, were recovered from an English-medium school in the North 24-Parganas district of West Bengal on Thursday, days after a similar incident in a college. Packets of condoms were also seized from an almirah in the "sick room" of the school located in the Kanchrapara area. Police have detained one cashier Aveek Nath and an assistant accountant Sayan Ghosh in the case.

Local BJP MLA Sudipta Das, along with the police and Central forces, rushed to the school on Wednesday night. He asked the local branch of a bank to send machines to count notes. During night-long denomination work, ₹1.77 crore were found kept in a room, which was kept closed for months. Das alleged that the former chairman of the Kanchrapara Municipality, ruled by the Trinamool Congress, used to keep the money in the room.

Bikashchandra Mondal, head teacher, said the money collected as tuition fee was kept in the room for several months. The school authorities had plans to deposit it in the local bank, he said. He could not offer any clarification for the condoms seized from a school almirah.

Pilot rules out differences with Gehlot, believes in Rahul's 'shops of love'

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

THE event held in Dausa to pay tribute to former Union minister Rajesh Pilot on his 26th death anniversary assumed political significance as it came amid renewed tensions within the Rajasthan Congress. However, Congress leader Sachin Pilot and former CM Ashok Gehlot appeared to signal a willingness to end the hostility that has recently dominated political discourse.

After an interfaith prayer meeting held in memory of his father, Sachin addressed the political rift with Gehlot, which had deepened after remarks by the former CM. Although Gehlot did not attend the programme, Sachin responded with restraint and chose to emphasise unity. "I heard his statement, and from what I heard and what I want to tell you all, I remember he said that just as Ashok ji has affection for his son Vaibhav Gehlot ji, he has the same affection for me as well," he said.

Sachin used the occasion to shift focus towards Congress's larger objectives. Rather than escalating the dispute, he invoked Rahul Gandhi's political message of unity and reconciliation. "We are all soldiers of the Congress. The message Rahul Gandhi Ji gave to the entire country was that we all have to open 'shops of love' (mohabbat ki dukaan)," Pilot said.

Earlier this week, Gehlot again referred to the 2020 political crisis, alleging that the developments during the Manesar episode were an attempt to destabilise the Congress government and should be acknowledged as a mistake by Sachin. Gehlot had also sought to justify the September 2022 rebellion by loyalist MLAs, arguing that the revolt was not directed against Congress high command but against the possibility of Sachin's leadership in the state.

Reacting to Sachin's remarks, Gehlot said, "He was right. I have always said that we used to visit each other's homes and treated each other like family."

Nishant's unfinished degree sparks buzz

Bihar Opposition leader Tejashwi Prasad Yadav has found a strong reason to counterattack NDA leaders, who frequently ridiculed the RJD leader by calling him "nauvi fail" (9th fail). It all happened when former Chief MInister Nitish Kumar's son Nishant Kumar, in his affidavit filed at the time of filing nomination for MLC elections, declared that he has not completed his engineering degree course at BIT, Mesra (Ranchi). Grabbing the opportunity, Tejashwi Yadav said he never concealed his educational qualifications, but sarcastically remarked, "Now, Bihar education minister will make Nishant an engineer. I have full faith in the current education minister; just as one minister became a professor, he would similarly make Nishant an engineer."

Staunch fan shows Lalu love in tatoos

RJD chief Lalu Prasad turned 79 on Thursday. While he has supporters both in Bihar and outside, there is a man in Muzaffarpur who has dedicated himself to the RJD chief to such an extent that he considers himself a devotee and Lalu 'god'. He has a tattoo of Lalu on his chest. Because of his dedication, he has become known as 'Hanuman of the Lalu family'. This 'staunch fan' has become famous not only in Muzaffarpur but throughout Bihar due to his obsession with Lalu. Ranjit Rajak, a 42-year-old resident of Chhoti Kalyani, has tattoos of the Lalu family on his body.

State eyes to become new tech gateway

There is good news for educated youth of Bihar. The government and Google India have agreed to work towards a strong partnership to accelerate technology ecosystem. A delegation comprising Google India vice president Chandu Thota met CM Samrat Choudhary in New Delhi recently in which they discussed on possibilities of cooperation in sectors related to education, health and agriculture. Choudhary invited Google to establish a Global Capability Centre in Bihar. The initiative seeks to decentralise India's tech map away from western and southern hub, positioning Bihar as a new tech gateway for eastern India.

VIOLENCE

2 dead, several houses torched in Manipur

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

VIOLENCE broke out in Manipur's Senapati district on Wednesday night after the remains of six Naga hostages were recovered by police. In Kamjong district early Thursday morning, unidentified gunmen killed two Kukis and set several houses on fire in a Kuki village. Both Senapati and Kamjong are Naga-majority districts. An angry mob attacked the Senapati office of the Naga People's Front and burned furniture and property.

Protests erupted outside the Jawaharlal Nehru Institute of Medical Sciences in Imphal after the remains of six hostages were taken for postmortem and identification. Police used tear gas to disperse crowds. A 24-hour shutdown called by United Naga Council affected normal life in Naga areas on Thursday. The six Nagas were among twenty people abducted on May 13 from two places. On the same day, twenty-eight Kukis were also abducted.

Three church leaders from the Thadou community were killed earlier by unidentified gunmen in Kangpokpi district. On May 15, the Nagas released 14 Kuki civilians, and the Kukis released 14 Naga individuals. The remaining fourteen Kukis were released on June 9.

'If released, I'll kill again,' says murder convict after getting death sentence

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

'Exceptionally brutal'

According to court records, the crime took place on October 21, 2021, around 4.30 pm in Ghazipur. An FIR was lodged the same day by the victim's uncle Arbaaz Khan. The prosecution stated that the murder was carried out in exceptionally brutal manner, leading to the child's death on the spot.

A 33-year-old man in Ghazipur in Uttar Pradesh, facing capital punishment in connection with a murder case, vowed to repeat the offence if freed from prison. The convict made the shocking statement during a chilling exchange between the judge in a Ghazipur sessions court and him on Thursday.

Amzad Khan was awarded death sentence by the court of additional district and sessions judge after convicting him for brutally murdering his four-year-old nephew by slitting his throat. Observing that the offence fell within the "rarest of rare" category and the accused showed no remorse, the court awarded him capital punishment under Section 302 of the Indian Penal Code for killing his nephew Daniyal in October 2021 following a minor family dispute.

As judge Shakti Singh was about to deliver the verdict, the courtroom witnessed the disturbing exchange. According to additional district government counsel (criminal) Akhilesh Singh, the judge asked Khan what would he do if he was released from prison. "If someone gets into a dispute with me, I will kill him too," pat came the reply from Khan, leaving the courtroom shocked. When asked if he regretted killing the child, Khan reportedly said he felt no remorse.

Taking note of the brutality of the murder as well as the convict's apparent lack of repentance, the court ordered that he be "hanged till death".

In keeping with a judicial tradition associated with capital punishment orders, the judge also broke the nib of his pen after signing the sentence.

BJP sweeps Upper House polls in Gujarat, MP and NE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhopal/Ahmedabad/Guwahati

RAJYA SABHA POLLS

HOURS after the Supreme Court refused to stay the electoral process for the June 18 Rajya Sabha elections to three seats from Madhya Pradesh, all three BJP candidates were declared elected unopposed on Thursday. The BJP made a clean sweep in Gujarat and the Northeast as well, where its candidates were declared elected unopposed.

In Madhya Pradesh, the BJP's candidates—national general secretary Tarun Chugh, state secretary Rajneesh Agrawal and former state Fishermen Welfare Board chairman Mahesh Kewat—were the only candidates left after scrutiny of nomination papers.

Earlier in the day, the Supreme Court declined to halt the election process in Madhya Pradesh, though it agreed to hear a plea filed by Congress leader and Telangana in-charge Meenakshi Natrajan on Friday. She challenged the June 9 rejection of her nomination papers for the biennial Rajya Sabha polls in the state. A bench of Justices Prashant Kumar Mishra and Atul S Chandurkar refused interim relief. The court observed that settled law requires courts to ordinarily avoid intervention once the election process has begun.

In Gujarat, the deadline for withdrawal of nominations ended on Thursday without a single opposition challenger in the fray. The returning officer officially declared BJP nominees Rajesh Shukla, Mukeshbhai Rathwa, Mansinh Parmar and Jitendra Meghjibhai Kanjaria elected unopposed. Gujarat is now set to send an all-BJP contingent of 11 members to the Rajya Sabha for the first time in its history, leaving the Congress without any representation from the state in the Upper House.

The outcome was expected. In the 182-member Gujarat Assembly, the BJP has 161 MLAs, while the Congress has a tiny number of 12 legislators, which is not enough to send any candidate to the Rajya Sabha. The Aam Aadmi Party holds five seats. Given this arithmetic, both parties stayed away from the contest, making the BJP's victory inevitable.

In the Northeast, the winners are Manipur BJP president A Sharda Devi, Arunachal Pradesh BJP stalwart Tai Tagak and BJP ally National People's Party's James Sangma in Meghalaya. The three states have one Rajya Sabha seat each.

Arunachal Pradesh Chief Minister Pema Khandu said Tagak's victory was a proud moment for the state. Congratulating Sharda Devi, Manipur Chief Minister Y Khemchand Singh said her vast administrative and political experience would be a valuable asset in advancing women's empowerment. Meghalaya Chief Minister Conrad K Sangma congratulated his brother James on the election to the Upper House.

West Asia conflict's new frontline has Indian sailors in its crosshairs

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

THREE attacks on commercial vessels in the Gulf region within four days have exposed a growing and uncomfortable reality for India: its seafarers are increasingly being drawn into the frontlines of geopolitical conflicts over which they have little influence and even less protection. As tensions between the US and Iran spill into some of the world's most strategically important shipping lanes, Indian sailors, who form one of the largest workforces in the global merchant marine industry, are bearing the human cost of a rapidly escalating maritime confrontation.

The latest incident involved MT Jalveer, a Guinea-Bissau-flagged tanker that came under attack off the coast of Oman near Shinas port on June 11. Though all crew members were rescued, the strike followed two earlier attacks on merchant vessels carrying Indian sailors, creating a pattern that is difficult to dismiss as isolated coincidence. On June 8, the Palau-flagged MV Marivex, carrying 24 Indian nationals, was targeted by US forces in the Oman Search and Rescue Region. According to American authorities, the vessel had repeatedly attempted to breach a US—enforced blockade on Iran despite multiple warnings and interceptions. Marivex made three attempts to cross the blockade line and, after being redirected southward and indicating compliance, manoeuvred near Omani territorial waters in what was interpreted as an effort to position itself for another blockade run.

A day later, on June 10, MT Settebello, another Palau-flagged tanker carrying 24 Indian crew members, came under attack in an operation also attributed to the US. Washington linked the strike to the vessel's alleged attempt to transport Iranian oil in violation of the blockade. While 21 Indian sailors were rescued, three lost their lives, making it one of the deadliest incidents involving Indian merchant mariners in the Gulf in recent years. The circumstances surrounding all three vessels reveal a deeper and more troubling trend.

DEATH OF SEAFARERS

Family seeks high-level probe into Aditya's death

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

THE family of seafarer Aditya Sharma of Hamirpur in Himachal Pradesh, who died off Oman coast in a US strike, has demanded a high-level inquiry into the circumstances leading to the incident amid allegations against the command on board the ship.

Aditya, 23, was serving as a deck cadet on the Palau-flagged oil tanker MT Settebello. His father Rajesh Sharma sought clarity on why the vessel was taken towards a high-risk zone. "My son has reported exploitation by seniors at ship and wanted to quit this ship in April. A complaint was filed. But senior crew forced him to drop it and later they exploited him forcing him to work for 20 hours a day,'' Rajesh said.

The family has urged the Ministry of External Affairs and Hamirpur MP Anurag Thakur to order an investigation to establish responsibility for the incident.

"Aditya called us on Sunday for the last time and said the ship got two warnings from the US navy in the last 15 days but it was still trying to navigate through the Strait of Hormuz," Rajesh said. "We do not know if his body has been found," he said.

Shivanand leaves behind a wailing family in Deoria

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE death of Shivanand Chaurasia from eastern UP after a US strike on an oil tanker off the Oman coast has left behind a deep void in the devastated family. Villagers and residents from nearby areas gathered at his home in Surauli of Deoria district to offer condolences.

Shivanand, 31, is survived by 5-year-old son Rajveer, 2-year-old daughter Vanika, wife Sushila, and parents Ramji Chaurasia and Kalawati Devi. Shivanand, elder of two brothers, had left home nearly six months ago to work aboard the Singapore-managed vessel little knowing that it would prove to be his last voyage. Now the inconsolable family and loved ones are waiting for the mortal remains.

Rajveer and Vanika sat silently beside each other, too young to understand the tragedy fate had brought to the duo. The children kept looking around in confusion amid cries little knowing that their father would never come home again. Their mother gets unconscious frequently and on regaining consciousness wails inconsolably. So are their grandparents and neighbours.

Shivanand's family got the news through his younger brother Ram Pravesh Chaurasia who works in Dubai. He was informed by the authorities and on Thursday morning, he called up home and told the family. "He was a welder on the ship and had joined six months back. This was his first overseas tour. We were informed about his death by my younger son," said Ramji, father of Shivanand.

Trump shifts gears on Iran strikes, says deal 'approved'

Tehran has yet to comment officially on a possible deal with the US

DUBAI

Debris from intercepted drones damages buildings and vehicles in Bahrain | AFP

US President Donald Trump said Thursday he has called off new military strikes on Iran, hours after threatening to escalate the war by seizing control of the country's oil industry.

Trump said "Discussions and final points have been, in both concept and great detail, approved by all parties involved, including the United States, Israel, Saudi Arabia, UAE, Qatar, Turkiye, Pakistan, Bahrain, Kuwait, Jordan, Egypt, and others," he said.

"The naval blockade will remain in full force and effect until this transaction is finalised – time and place of the signing to be announced shortly."

Meanwhile, Iran's Fars news agency, citing an unnamed source, said on Thursday that Tehran has not yet approved a text for any deal with the United States. "No text has been approved for an initial memorandum of understanding with the United States," said Fars, quoting what it said was an informed source close to Iran's negotiating team.

The announcement from Trump came after two days of back-and-forth attacks between the US and Iran had threatened pushed the West Asia closer to the resumption of a full-scale war. Just hours after Trump posted on social media that the US would hit Iran "very hard tonight" and take "total control" of Iran's oil and gas industries, the president was suggesting that progress has been made in talks to extend the fragile ceasefire.

Trump has claimed multiple times in recent weeks that the warring parties have been on the cusp of a deal without anything coming to fruition. There was no immediate comment from Iranian officials or mediators regarding Trump's latest comments about progress in negotiations. Negotiations have stalled over Iran's nuclear programme, which the US and Israel fear could lead to an atomic weapon, but which Tehran says is for peaceful purposes. Another major point of contention is Iran's stranglehold on the Strait of Hormuz, a critical shipping lane for transporting oil and natural gas.

Fresh exchanges continue

While the most recent strikes have increased tensions in the region, they have been more limited compared to the early weeks of the war and negotiations between the US and Iran are ongoing. Back-and-forth strikes rattled the West Asia for the third time this week. The first involved attacks between Iran and Israel, followed by two rounds of fire between the US and Iran. Tehran said it fired back at Kuwait, Bahrain and Jordan. Iran's Foreign Ministry said the US attacks had "effectively rendered the ceasefire ... meaningless," without saying it was abandoning it. Agencies

US strikes tanker bypassing blockade

WASHINGTON: US forces struck and disabled another oil tanker attempting to bypass their blockade of Iranian ports, US Central Command said on Thursday. A US aircraft fired two Hellfire missiles into the engine room of the Guinea-Bissau-flagged vessel after its crew ignored orders. The strike in the Gulf of Oman was the third this week and the ninth since the blockade began on April 13. CENTCOM said 135 vessels had been redirected, while 42 aid ships were allowed through.

Kuwait reopens air after brief closure

KUWAIT CITY: Kuwait reopened its airspace to commercial traffic on Thursday after briefly shutting it following the latest Iranian attacks, the civil aviation authority said. The military earlier said air defences were engaging "hostile aerial targets" after fresh US strikes on Iran. The foreign ministry condemned the "sinful and repeated" attacks, calling them part of a "systematic, aggressive approach" that Kuwait would neither accept nor tolerate.

Tehran shuts Strait of Hormuz and threatens vessels after fresh blasts

TEHRAN

WAR WATCH

IRAN's military command on Thursday warned that any ship transiting the Strait of Hormuz would be targeted, after reporting fresh explosions across the country's south and accusing the United States of violating a fragile ceasefire.

The Khatam al-Anbiya command said the strait was now "completely closed to all types of vessel" and warned ships against approaching the area, according to the Tasnim news agency.

Iran's Revolutionary Guards navy, quoted by state television IRIB and the Mehr agency, said two vessels attempting to pass through the strategic waterway had been hit.

"Following repeated violations of the ceasefire by the American enemy, the Strait of Hormuz will be closed until further notice," it said.

"We warn that no vessel should leave its anchorage in the Persian Gulf and the Sea of Oman. Approaching the Strait of Hormuz will be considered cooperation with the enemy."

Iranian media reported explosions near the southern port city of Bandar Abbas, on Qeshm island and in the cities of Minab and Sirik. Iranian sources said "enemy projectiles" had struck Qeshm and the cities of Kargan and Sirik.

US Central Command said American forces had launched additional "self-defence strikes" against multiple targets in Iran in response to what it called Tehran's "continued aggression". Meanwhile, Trump said Iranian leaders had telephoned him directly and asked him to stop an ongoing bombing campaign, according to Fox News. He also said US forces had fired 49 Tomahawk missiles in the latest raid.

Iran's Revolutionary Guards swiftly rejected the claim.

"Trump's claim that Iranian officials have contacted him is strongly denied and is a cover for escaping war," the Guards said, according to the IRNA state news agency. AFP

Jaya Clayton, US attorney

Trump plans to nominate Jay Clayton for US intel chief post

WASHINGTON

DONALD Trump said on Thursday that he plans to nominate Jay Clayton, the US attorney for the Southern District of New York and a former Securities and Exchange Commission chairman, as director of national intelligence.

Trump announced the nomination on social media amid pressure from Congress to name a permanent replacement for Tulsi Gabbard, who resigned last month. Trump faced intense pushback over his decision to name Bill Pulte, head of the Federal Housing Finance Agency, as acting director.

The situation has led to a standoff in Congress after Democrats said they would refuse to renew a foreign intelligence powers unless Trump pulled Pulte's nomination and named a permanent nominee.

"Few people anywhere in the Legal Community are respected at the level of Jay," Trump wrote. "I encourage the United States Senate to confirm Jay as soon as possible."

As the US attorney in Manhattan, Clayton oversees the largest and most prestigious of the Justice Department's prosecution offices, with a vast portfolio ranging from terrorism and espionage cases to security fraud and public corruption.

Trump has doubled down on naming Pulte acting director even has he emphasized it would be a short-term job. The president said he wanted Pulte to downsize the office, which has already been significantly scaled back in his second term.

Gabbard said she needed to leave the post as her husband is being treated for cancer. The job oversees the coordination of 18 intelligence agencies. In naming Clayton for the post, Trump also highlighted his past leadership at the law firm Sullivan & Cromwell, which Trump described as "one of the most prominent and successful Law Firms anywhere in the World." AP

ILLEGAL WILDLIFE TRADE BUST NETS 2

Wildlife authorities seized protected animals and meat products in two raids and detained two local men suspected of illegal possession and trade. Officers rescued a pangolin and a monkey and recovered deer and porcupine meat. The suspects face charges under wildlife laws carrying fines and prison terms if found guilty.

12 cops hurt, 16 held as Belfast unrest branded 'racist thuggery'

BELFAST

Fires burn around police vehicles as protesters stand off with police in Glengormley, north of Belfast, Northern Ireland | AFP

POLICE arrested 16 people during a second night of disorder in Northern Ireland sparked by a brutal Belfast stabbing, a senior minister said Thursday, condemning rioters for "racist thuggery". The latest clashes with police came hours after a Sudanese man appeared in court charged with attempted murder over Monday night's knife attack. The incident was caught on video and went viral as it ricocheted across social media platforms, triggering anger.

Twelve officers were also injured in Wednesday's unrest, the UK government's Northern Ireland minister Hilary Benn told Sky News.Dozens of masked protesters clashed with riot police into the night, with rioters setting fire to a car and boarded-up property, AFP journalists saw.

Projectiles, including petrol bombs and bricks, were hurled as riot police used water cannon to push back dozens of rioters trying to reach a hotel which had been used to house asylum seekers.

Benn said the scale of unrest on Wednesday evening was "a lot less than the terrible events that we witnessed on Tuesday night". But he told Sky News it was "really important to convey the sense of fear that has been created, above all for those who were intimidated, burned out of their houses by masked thugs on the basis of the colour of their skin".A nurse was "chased and intimidated" as she travelled to work at Ulster Hospital near Belfast on Wednesday, the body that runs the hospital said.

She "bravely insisted" on doing her shift "in stark contrast to the behaviour of the people who terrified her as she tried to do her job", it added in a statement. The biggest and main mosque in Northern Ireland also had to be shut for the first time in its history on Tuesday, chairman Mohammed Arshed said.

Two people were charged in connection with the unrest and will appear in court later Thursday, the Police Service of Northern Ireland said. The justice system stood "ready to give long sentences to those bringing disorder to our streets", said Ryan Henderson, the force's assistant chief constable. UK authorities blamed far-right activists for stoking anger on social media following Monday's knife attack. AFP

UK defence min quits, cites low military fund allocation

LONDON

UK Defence Secretary John Healey unexpectedly quit on Thursday, saying the government is unwilling to spend enough on the military at a time of "rising threats." The resignation dealt another blow to embattled Prime Minister Keir Starmer, who is already facing demands from Labour colleagues to step down.

Healey told Starmer in a letter that the government's Defense Investment Plan falls "well short of what is required at this dangerous time."

Publication of the plan has been delayed amid reports of disagreement between the defense ministry and the Treasury. Starmer has pledged to boost UK defense spending to 2.5% of gross domestic product by 2027 and 3% by 2035. But many in the military say that isn't fast enough.

John Healey | AP

"You have been unable, and the Treasury has been unwilling, to commit the resources that the nation needs to defend the country at this time of rising threats," Healey wrote in his resignation letter.

He said that the spending plan put forward by the Treasury, and presented to him on Monday, would see defense spending rise to just 2.68% in 2030, after hitting 2.6% next year. Healey said that isn't enough with growing demands on defense and British military commitments, citing the Iran war, Russia's all-out invasion of Ukraine and threats from Moscow.

"I am now left with no other option than to submit my resignation," he said. Gen Richard Barrons, who helped lead a defense review that underpins the investment plan, said the government is "actively going backwards" by refusing to fund its own review.

"It diminishes the UK's standing within NATO, weakens our credibility with allies, and increases our vulnerability to the realities of 21st-century conflict," he said. AP

Climate wild card El Nino is here, experts warn of costly spell

WASHINGTON

EL NINO, Nature's chaotic climate agent, has formed in a warmed-up Pacific Ocean and is expected to grow to historic strength, meteorologists announced on Thursday.

Experts said the El Nino, a natural warming cycle, should further heat a globe already warming from fossil fuel pollution and will likely turbocharge extreme weather across the planet. Meteorologists forecast it will rival — or exceed — a record El Nino that began in 1997 and helped trigger billions of dollars in damage from heat waves, floods, droughts, tornadoes and wildfires.

The US National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration officially confirmed the existence of the El Nino, which is a warming of the Pacific near the equator that affects weather patterns across the globe. NOAA's announcement said there's a 63% chance that the El Nino will get so intense this late fall and early winter that it "would rank among the largest El Nino events in the historical record going back to 1950."

The warm, deep waters of an El Nino affect weather patterns by bringing "a lot of extra heat to the surface, fueling a lot of extreme events for a lot of places around the world," said Clark University climate scientist Abby Frazier. She said, especially in the Pacific, "it can get dire very quickly."

United Nations Secretary-General Antonio Guterres described El Nino as an "urgent climate warning." "El Nino conditions will pour fuel on the fire of a warming world," Guterres said in a video message. El Niño weakens Atlantic hurricanes but boosts Pacific activity, putting Hawaii and other islands at greater risk, Frazier said. AP

Deep technology firms getting bigger cheques

Deep tech startups raised $1.23 bn in 120 funding rounds in 2026

Startups see larger funding rounds

Number of transactions may be lower than last year due to larger funding rounds. Investors are willing to write larger cheques for businesses that can monstrate technical depth

Software company Zendesk would commit over two years

Rivvun AI raises $7.55 million

Recent funding rounds have continued in deep tech. Rivvun AI raised $7.55 mn, while precision manufacturing startup Ethereal Machines secured $28.5 mn from Avataar Ventures and Peak XV Partners

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @ Bengaluru

INVESTMENT activity in deep technology sector continued in 2026, with new funding platforms and startup support programmes being launched even as number of deals declined.

As per Tracxn data, Indian deep technology startups raised $1.23 billion across 120 funding rounds in 2026 so far. In 2025, the sector recorded 372 funding rounds and total funding of $1.54 billion.

The figures indicate that while fewer companies are getting bigger cheques, capital inflows have remained resilient.

"We're seeing a shift rather than an acceleration across the board. Capital is becoming more concentrated, and investors are spending more time evaluating whether companies have a genuine technology advantage and a path to commercialisation," a VC from a domestic firm said.

"The number of transactions may be lower than last year, but that is due to larger funding rounds. Investors are increasingly willing to write larger cheques for businesses that can demonstrate technical depth and early customer adoption, instead of spreading capital across a large number of companies," he added.

In May, Fundamentum Partnership, co-founded by Infosys chairman Nandan Nilekani and Ashish Kumar, launched Fundamentum Frontier Advisors (F2A), a platform focused on artificial intelligence and deep technology investments. The platform has a total investment capacity of ₹3,000 crore, comprising a SEBI-approved fund of ₹2,000 crore and up to ₹1,000 crore in co-investments. It plans to back companies working in consumer, enterprise and physical AI.

"Technology-led innovation continues to create new opportunities across sectors," Nilekani said when the platform was announced.

Also in May, customer service software company Zendesk said it would commit $100 million over two years to expand its Zendesk for Startups programme. The initiative provides access to the company's AI products, onboarding support and partner benefits, and has been extended to venture capital firms and their portfolio companies.

Recent funding rounds have continued across several areas of deep technology. Pune- and Seattle-based Rivvun AI raised $7.55 million in a round led by Sitara Capital and 3one4 Capital, while precision manufacturing startup Ethereal Machines secured $28.5 million from investors including Avataar Ventures and Peak XV Partners.

SpaceX IPO sees $70 bn investment

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

4,400 current, former staff to be millionaires

Together with SpaceX, 3 firms could add $3.6 trillion of market value. SpaceX's listing to bring windfall gains to a large number of its employees. Over 4,400 current and former employees may become millionaires

SpaceX's initial public offer (IPO) has attracted more than $70 billion in orders from retail investors, news agency Bloomberg reported citing people familiar with the matter. As per the report, retail investors are expected to be allocated at least 20% of the available shares.

At a $75 billion IPO size, which would be the largest on record, that allocation would leave the bulk of demand from individual investors unfulfilled, as per Bloomberg calculations. The Elon Musk-owned rocket, satellite, and AI company has received orders from about 1,000 institutional investors, some people said.

The terms of the offering such as the $135 per share price and the 555.6 million shares are unlikely to change, some of the people said. SpaceX would raise $75 billion in a deal valuing the company at $1.8 trillion, based on the outstanding shares in its filings. The IPO is touted as the biggest ever, topping Saudi Aramco's $29.4 billion debut in 2019. It will set the stage for potential mega-listings from companies whose AI models compete with SpaceX's. OpenAI filed confidentially for an IPO on Monday, following Anthropic PBC which filed last week.

Together with SpaceX, the three companies could add $3.6 trillion of market value to US exchanges. SpaceX's listing is also set to bring windfall gains to a large number of its employees. As per the NY Times, over 4,400 current and former employees are likely to become millionaires after the IPO. About 400 employees could hold stock worth more than $100 million.

As per reports, the IPO listing is also likely to make Elon Musk the world's first trillionaire. According to Forbes' real-time billionaire tracker, Musk's net worth stood at approximately $788.8 billion as of June 2026. His wealth is spread across Tesla, where his stock and options are worth roughly $455 billion combined, and SpaceX, which has been privately held until now.

Musk owns 41% of SpaceX. At the IPO valuation, his SpaceX stake alone is worth about $866.5 billion on paper.

5.4 lakh homes' delivery expected to get delayed

Projects in advanced stages too face delays

ANAROCK said the gap between scheduled and actual completions shows even projects in advanced stages of construction can face delays when confronted with large-scale disruptions. The current situation is different from the pandemic, as construction activity continues uninterrupted

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

A record 540,400 housing units, scheduled for completion across the top 7 cities in 2026, face execution risk as the West Asia crisis continues to disrupt global trade routes, commodity markets, and supply chains. According to property consultant Anarock, these headwinds have put developers' ability to deliver projects on schedule to the hardest test in decades.

"Latest ANAROCK Research data reveals that a record 540,400 housing units are scheduled for completion across the top 7 cities in 2026 – the highest in the last decade. Of the total scheduled deliveries, the western markets of MMR and Pune collectively account for 57% of homes due for completion this year," said Prashant Thakur, Executive Director & Head - Research & Advisory, ANAROCK Group.

He added that historically, ambitious housing supply pipelines have often been vulnerable to external shocks like these.

"For instance, during the pandemic year of 2020, ANAROCK Research shows that approx. 4.66 lakh homes were scheduled for completion across the top 7 cities. However, only about 2.14 lakh units, or 46% of the planned pipeline, were ultimately delivered as construction came to a halt due to lockdowns, labour migration, and supply-chain disruptions," said Thakur.

Anthropic, TCS partner for enterprise AI adoption

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

TATA Consultancy Services (TCS) and Anthropic have announced a global strategic partnership aimed at helping enterprises scale the adoption of artificial intelligence.

Under the agreement, TCS will establish a dedicated business unit to deliver industry solutions and AI expertise based on Anthropic's Claude models, with early access to the technology.

The companies said the partnership is intended to help organisations, particularly in regulated sectors, move AI projects beyond pilot stages by combining TCS' governance and implementation capabilities with Claude models.

As a Global Premier Partner in the Claude Partner Network, TCS will offer AI solutions and services across sectors including financial services, public services, life sciences, healthcare, aviation, telecom and medtech.

TCS will provide enterprise-wide access to Claude to 50,000 employees across engineering, finance, legal, marketing and sales functions. The company said the deployment will help it gain operational experience that can be applied to customer projects.

The partnership will also cover TCS products and platforms. In the UK, Diligenta, TCS' life and pensions business, will use Claude to support customer experience through process transformation. TCS iON will provide learning and certification programmes on Claude models across India.

CII-SR chief suggests policy changes for green energy

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

SEEKING to support the Union government's target of achieving 500 GW of non-fossil fuel energy capacity by 2030, Confederation of Indian Industry-Southern Region (CII-SR) Chairman Ravichandran Purushothaman has proposed three key policy measures to accelerate industrial electrification in southern India.

Addressing the 25th edition of the CII–Sohrabji Godrej Green Business Centre (CII-GBC) conference in Chennai recently, Purushothaman said energy competitiveness would be key for growth of MSMEs and manufacturing in Tamil Nadu and the southern region.

Ravichandran Purushothaman

"A 40% discount on electricity tariffs during daytime hours and a 40% premium during evening peak hours should be considered. States must focus on wind repowering, factory rooftop solar installations, agricultural solarisation, heat pumps and industrial electrification," he said.

Highlighting the challenges faced by MSMEs, he said the high cost of power in India was undermining their competitiveness. "Power costs about ₹2.80 per unit in China as gainst ₹8 per unit in India. This cost disadvantage is not reflected in trade pacts and becomes evident when Indian MSMEs compete for export orders in markets like Europe."

Purushothaman pointed to the growing challenge of renewable energy integration. He said 8,000 MW of solar power was curtailed in Rajasthan in March despite the state having installed 41 GW of solar capacity, as the grid was unable to absorb the electricity generated.

Banks raise rates on NRI deposits, offer up to 6.6%

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

WITH the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) announcing a dollar swap facility for Foreign Currency Non-Resident (Bank) [FCNR(B)] deposits, banks have raised interest rates by 300-350 basis points on dollar-denominated NRI deposits, with some offering as much as 6.6% for tenures of three to five years. Earlier, FCNR(B) deposits typically offered interest rates of 3-3.5%.

Major lenders including State Bank of India, Bank of Baroda, Axis Bank, HDFC Bank and Yes Bank have increased rates on FCNR(B) deposits targeted at non-resident Indians. Yes Bank is offering one of the highest rates in the market, at 6.6% on five-year dollar-denominated deposits. The bank is offering 6.5% for deposits with maturities of three years to less than four years and 6.55% for deposits with maturities of four years to less than five years.

> The move is a well-calibrated and multi-pronged initiative aimed at attracting FCNR(B) deposits & strengthening rupee
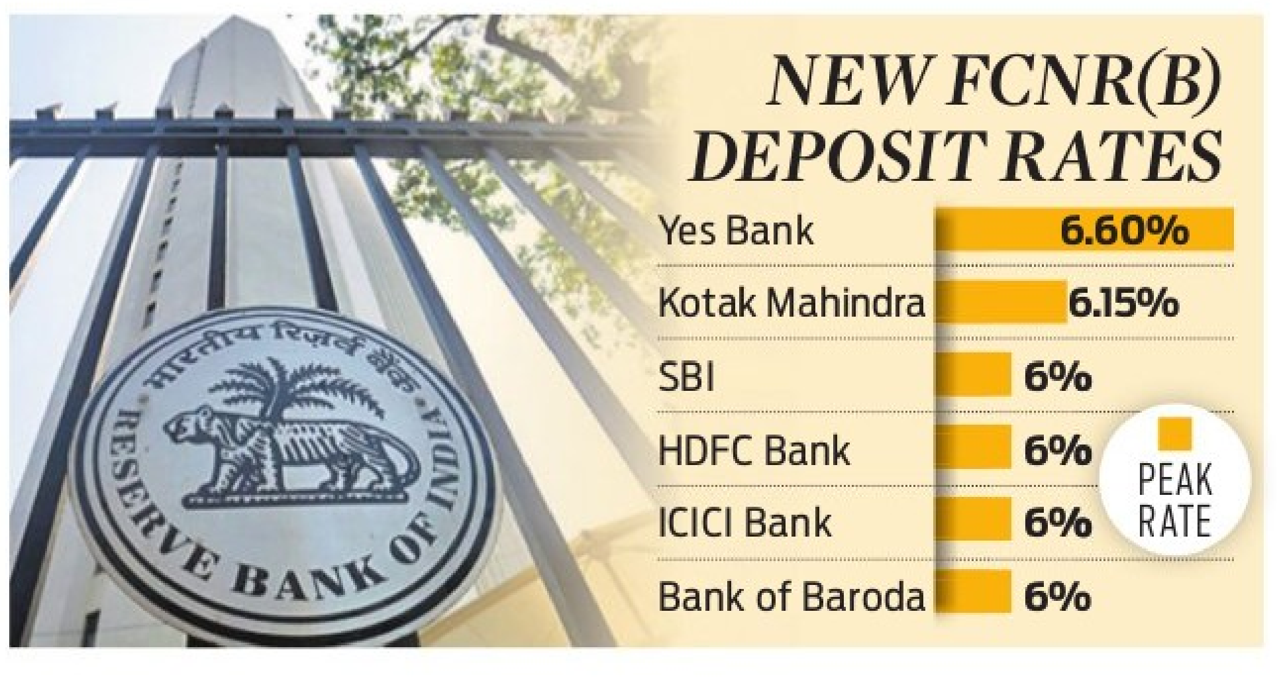
>
> Beena Vaheed, exec director, BoB

Kotak Mahindra Bank has raised FCNR(B) deposit rates to a peak of 6.15% for deposits above $1 million with maturities ranging from three to five years. Deposits below $1 million in the same maturity bucket will earn 6%.

Most other banks are offering a peak rate of 6%. SBI has raised rates to 6% for deposits above $1 million with a five-year tenure, while deposits below $1 million will earn up to 5.75%.



NEW FCNR(B) DEPOSIT RATES

Bank	Peak rate
Yes Bank	6.60%
Kotak Mahindra	6.15%
SBI	6%
HDFC Bank	6%
ICICI Bank	6%
Bank of Baroda	6%

Bank of Baroda is offering 6% on US dollar deposits, 4.75% on pound sterling and Australian dollar deposits, 5.15% on Canadian dollar deposits, and 3.75% on euro deposits. The bank offers 5.5% for deposits with maturities of three years to less than four years and 5.75% for deposits with maturities of four years to less than five years.

Beena Vaheed, Executive Director, Bank of Baroda, said: "The RBI's recent measures to encourage foreign currency inflows into the banking system have created an enabling environment for banks to strengthen their FCNR(B) offerings for the NRI community. The move is a well-calibrated and multi-pronged initiative aimed at attracting FCNR(B) deposits and strengthening the rupee."

Private-sector lenders HDFC Bank, ICICI Bank and Axis Bank are offering a uniform interest rate of 6% on FCNR(B) deposits across maturities ranging from three to five years. Industry estimates suggest that banks could attract fresh inflows of $20-30 billion in FCNR(B) deposits following the RBI's latest measures aimed at boosting foreign currency inflows. A similar scheme introduced in 2013 had attracted nearly $34 billion in FCNR deposits.

FCNR(B) deposits are foreign-currency term deposits designed for NRIs. Their key advantage is that both the principal and interest are fully repatriable without restrictions. In addition, interest earned on FCNR(B) deposits is exempt from tax in India.

HERO EYES GAINS AS BUYERS PRIORITISE FUEL EFFICIENCY: CBO

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

HERO MotoCorp is well-positioned to benefit in a market where fuel efficiency increasingly drives purchase decisions, given its strong portfolio of high-mileage motorcycles, said a senior company executive. He added that the company has seen growing demand for fuel-efficient models following the back-to-back petrol price hikes last month.

"Wherever fuel prices go up, it benefits Hero because our mileage association is strong. We are seeing certain segments like the 100 cc becoming big. We are anticipating good demand in an environment where mileage is becoming the driver for purchase," Ashutosh Varma, chief business officer (CBO), India business, Hero MotoCorp, told TNIE on the sidelines of the company's two Flex Fuel vehicles - the Splendor+ and HF Deluxe - launch earlier this month. He added that Hero MotoCorp is seeing strong demand for its electric two-wheelers and aims to triple monthly EV volume to 60,000 units by the end of the year.

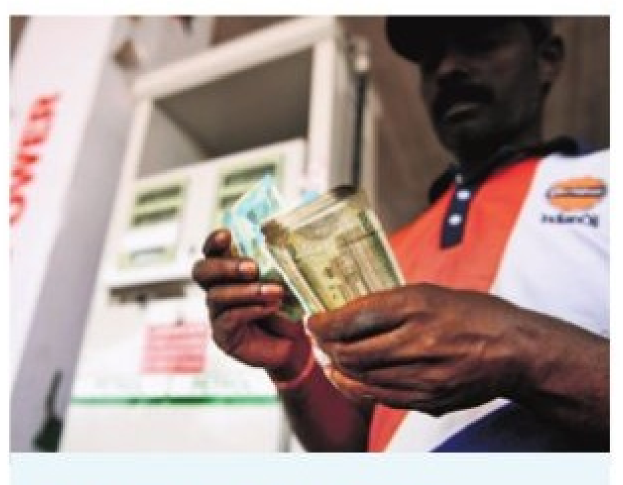
"There is excitement around electric vehicles (EVs). We are selling what we are able to produce, around 20,000 units per month at the moment, and by the end of this year, we aim to produce and sell three times what we are selling now. Last year we produced and sold 1.50 lakh EVs and this year we aim to double the sales volume," said Varma.

Centre extends excise duty relief to petrol blended with higher ethanol

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE government on Thursday extended central excise duty exemptions to petrol blended with 22%, 25%, 27% and 30% ethanol. The move is aimed at advancing higher ethanol blending levels beyond the existing E20 programme and paves the way for the commercial adoption of petrol blended with up to 30% ethanol.

In a set of notifications issued late Wednesday, the Department of Revenue provided a nil excise duty rate for E22, E25, E27 and E30 fuel blends that conform to BIS standards. India has achieved its target of 20% ethanol blending in petrol ahead of schedule. Under the notifications, E22 fuel will comprise 78% petrol and 22% ethanol, while E25, E27 and E30 fuels will contain 25%, 27% and 30% ethanol, respectively.



EXEMPTIONS

1. Nil excise duty for E22, E25, E27 and E30 fuel blends
2. India achieved 20% ethanol blending target in petrol ahead of schedule
3. Industry welcomes the move

The exemptions apply where appropriate duties have been paid on motor spirit and applicable GST has been paid on the ethanol used in the blend.

Meanwhile, the industry has welcomed the move. Bharati Balaji, deputy director general of the All India Distillers Association (AIDA), called it a landmark step that will accelerate energy transition. "For the distilling industry, this is a powerful demand-side signal, it creates a commercial pathway to deploy surplus ethanol production capacity, which stands above E20 programme requirements. Sivakumar Ramjee, executive director, Nangia Global, said the excise duty relief on E22, E25, E27 and E30 fuels is a strategic move that combines tax policy, energy security and India's climate commitments.

"At one level, the government is using fiscal incentives to make higher ethanol-blended fuels commercially viable and encourage faster adoption by fuel companies, vehicle manufacturers and consumers. At another level, it is an attempt to reduce India's exposure to volatile global crude oil markets at a time when geopolitical conflicts continue to disrupt energy supply chains and influence oil prices."

India to see highest growth rate in FY27

NEW DELHI: India will remain the world's fastest-growing major economy, expanding at 6.6% in fiscal year 2026-27, a sharp moderation from 7.7 per cent in the previous year, the World Bank said on Thursday. Reduction in GST rates should somewhat support consumer demand, the report said.

Two Moroccan stars out of WC

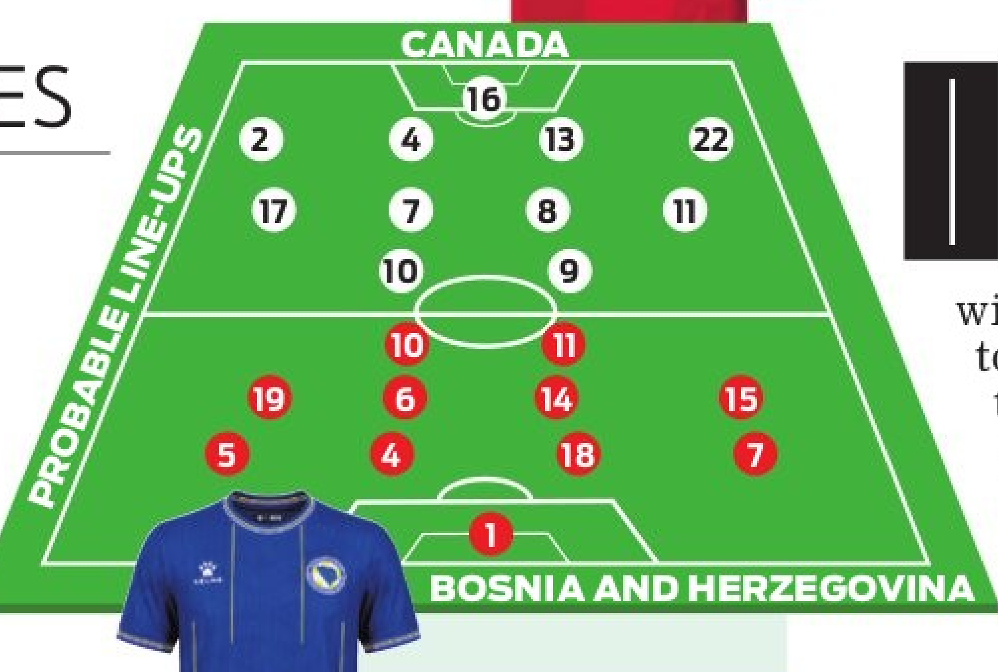
NEW JERSEY: Morocco replaced two injured players in its World Cup squad ahead of an opening game against Brazil, including star winger Abde Ezzalzouli. FIFA confirmed late Wednesday that former Barcelona player Ezzalzouli and Marseille defender Nayef Aguerd were withdrawn from the Morocco squad for the tournament. They were replaced by Amine Sbaï of French club Angers and Marwane Saadane, of Saudi Arabian side Al Fateh.

'Ivory Coast fans banned from WC'

ABIDJAN: Ivory Coast home-based fans have been denied visas to the United States, the president of the national supporters' committee told agencies on Thursday. The run-up to the World Cup, has been dogged by the visa policies of the main host nation, the United States. Somali referee Omar Artan and some support staff for the Iranian team have been denied entry. The Ivory Coast supporters group organises trips for the country's fans to follow the team abroad, said Julien Kouadio Adonis, president of the National Committee of Elephants Supporters (CNSE), which operates under the country's Ministry of Sport.

Somali referee in European final

NYON: The Union of European Football Association (UEFA) on Thursday appointed Somali referee Omar Artan to officiate the 2026 UEFA Super Cup, which will take place on 12 August in Salzburg between UEFA Champions League winners Paris Saint-Germain and UEFA Europa League winners Aston Villa FC. This comes a days after Artan — who 'dreamt' of officiating a match in the ongoing FIFA World Cup — was deported from US due to strict immigration laws. Somalia is included in the US's travel ban list.



CANADA: Crepeau (16); Johnston (2), de Fougerolles (4), Cornelius (13), Laryea (22); Buchanan (17), Eustaquio (7), Kone (8), Millar (11), David (10), Larin (9)

BOSNIA AND HERZEGOVINA: Vasilij (1); Dedic (7), Katic (18), Muharemovic (4), Kolasinac (5); Memic (15), Sunjic (14), Tahirovic (6), Alajbegovic (19); Demirovic (10), Dzeko (11).

CANADA'S FIRST GAME

The second of the three hosts — Canada — start their campaign against Bosnia and Herzegovina.

LOT RESTS ON DAVID, DAVIES

Jonathan David and Alphonso Davies are two of the most well-known faces in Canadian football history. If they are to advance, these two will have to big roles.

BOSNIA'S WINGERS COULD LIGHT STAGE

Edin Dzeko's still there but the key men will be behind him as a pair of eye-catching young men (Esmir Bajraktarevic and Kerim Alajbegovic) have the trickery and pace to trouble even the best of defences on the big stage.

Making US men's football great

The world's most popular sport has struggled to become mainstream in the US. While their women's team are renowned, the men aren't elite. Swaroop Swaminathan takes a look at why they will be desperate to leave an imprint at this home World Cup...

IN vast swathes of the world, the first kind of toys kids get is a football. Just something to kick around and play with. In some countries, toy manufacturers sell the complete set: small goalposts on either side. It widens the horizons; a five-year old can pretend to score a goal and their parents will capture that moment for posterity. The claps will follow. It's why football remains a cultural phenomenon in almost every part of the world. Its ease of access and one of the earliest bonding exercises between a parent and a child.

In the US, the football set isn't the default gift of choice. There's the toy basketball set with a small hoop capable of being stuck on the wall. Or a small baseball bat. Or a small American football, the same ball that parents throw to their kids in the garden post school. It's why football, even at the fundamental level, has faced a kind of friction in North America.

Pele tried to change it. The 1994 World Cup tried to change it. Beckham tried to change it. Messi tried to change it. Bit by bit, some of the world's greatest footballers as well as some of the most instantly recognisable faces have chipped at the foundations to make America fall in love with the world's most popular game. But you don't change the cultural fabric overnight. It takes decades. The 2026 iteration of the World Cup can change that. Their mission is fairly simple. To paraphrase what President Donald Trump may have told Gianni Infantino in private, time to make men's football great in the US (the women's team are four-time WC champions and have some of the world's best players).

In 2023, months after Lionel Messi led Argentina to the holy grail, he signed for Inter Miami. Overnight, profile of the domestic (MLS) league changed. Ticket sales zoomed. Replica jerseys were sold out. People genuinely wanted to watch Inter Miami for Messi. Americans were finally getting the chance to watch Messi in the flesh. The same kind of market that had come alive when David Beckham moved. The same kind of buzz that was generated by Pele's brief appearances for the New York Cosmos in the 70s. But the challenge is to sustain this

Before the actual Messi came along, the US thought they had a world-beater. Never mind that the footballer in question was a child. Freddy Adu. Right about the time when internet was becoming a thing, Adu was one of the first footballers to go viral for his dribbling skills and stepovers. And for a few seconds, everybody including the league bought into the hype. Concessions were made as he signed a six-year contract with DC United as a 14-year-old. He flamed out. The next few generations came and went without raising the needle but there is something about the Pulisic generation. They are all well established stars across Europe (do not mention the phrase Golden Generation though). It has the necessary sprinkling of quality every tournament team needs to advance, jump past the first hurdle. Some artists, a few artisans and a lot of experience and all of it marshalled by an elite manager in Mauricio Pochettino who willingly said to no to offers in Europe.

Christian Pulisic will be the trump card for the co-hosts campaign | AFP

"Thank you for the incredible privilege," Carlos Cordeiro, president of US Soccer had said when the United bid won the right to host the World Cup. "Football today is the only victor." This was in 2018. Since then, the US league has grown by leaps and bounds. Just in terms of attendance, it's now one of the best attended leagues outside the big European leagues. And the USMNT also qualified in 2022, something they had failed to do for the 2018 edition. In 2017, they had suffered the ignominy of not qualifying from a very presentable group. Less than eight months later, they knew had a proper target to work towards 2026. Everything changed overnight. And for the last eight years, US have been working towards this moment. They have bagged an elite coach. They have fought more established countries to sign players. They have a generation capable of producing magic.

On Friday night, in the city of Hollywood and American fantasies, the first pages of the next chapter in a decades-old dream will be written.

Infantino defends WC ticket prices

CARLOS RODRIGUEZ

FIFA President Gianni Infantino defended World Cup ticket prices on Wednesday, saying "if we do something wrong, then probably everyone selling tickets in North America is doing something wrong."

Infantino spoke with reporters during a rare question-and-answer session on the eve of the opening match of an expanded 48-nation, 104-game World Cup tournament. He defended record ticket prices, said FIFA was powerless to get the U.S. government to admit a Somali referee, and praised his ability to get Iran's national soccer team into the United States. FIFA priced tickets starting at $140 for group-stage games, but regular seats for the July 19 final outside New York were listed at up to $8,680 and hospitality seats at up to $73,200. It raised prices for the final to $10,990 and then $32,970. Infantino said 130,000 tickets were offered in that category. Four years ago at the tournament in Qatar, prices ranged from $69 to $1,607. "If you sell it at a lower price point," he said, "in this particular market it would have gone — which is perfectly legal in this country ... in secondary markets at much, much, much higher prices and where would the money go then? Well, to those who organize secondary markets or black market activities and not to football." Infantino said the average ticket price was below $500 for the tournament and was comparable to other U.S. sports during their playoffs, a claim that does not appear to be accurate for list prices. Major League Baseball's average World Series ticket price has been $350 to $400 in recent years.

UNITED STATES BEGIN THEIR CAMPAIGN BUT DON'T EXPECT A LOT OF GOALS AGAINST PARAGUAY

A MEAN DEFENCE

In South American qualifying, Paraguay were a gun defensive unit as they let in only 10 goals in 18 games (scored only 14). They will make it tight, compact and shrink space.

PULISIC'S HOUR

For nearly a decade, US has built towards this moment. When they won the bid, Christian Pulisic was a man filled with promise. The AC Milan winger now knows the onus is on him.

US hoping Balogun and strikers can shine

GREG BEACHAM

FOLARIN Balogun chose to play for the United States precisely because of the opportunity he's about to get over the next few weeks. Balogun could have stuck with England, where he grew up and with which he began his international career at the under-21 level. He also considered playing for his parents' Nigeria.

But three years ago, the goal-scoring striker chose to represent the country in which he was born — and instead of being stuck behind Harry Kane and Ollie Watkins with the Three Lions, the 24-year-old Balogun is likely to be an important player for the Americans in their home World Cup.

"I feel like my individual journey is a bit full circle now, approaching the World Cup," Balogun said this week at the U.S. training base in Orange County, California. "Especially with the World Cup being here, the opportunity to represent my nation in front of a home crowd is going to be something special for me, for my family, for my friends and for the team. I'm definitely looking forward to it, and very proud."

The US scored three goals in four matches at the Qatar World Cup four years ago, with just one coming from a striker. It's a generational issue: In their past eight World Cups since 1990, the Americans have scored a paltry 28 goals in 30 matches. AP

Erigaisi to feature in Chennai Grand Masters

CHENNAI: Arjun Erigaisi is set to feature at the upcoming Chennai Grand Masters, the fourth edition of the tournament. Erigaisi, one of India's strongest Classical players, has played in the event in all previous editions. This means three of India's top players — D Gukesh and M Pranesh the other two — are some of the confirmed names. The tournament will see world champion Gukesh face Nodirbek Abdusattarov. While the Uzbek's name hasn't officially been announced by the organisers, it's learned that Abdusattarov will be part of the eight-man field.

BENGALURU: Rahul Dravid and Venkatesh Prasad unveiled the Cup for this year's Maharaja Trophy in the city. The trophy unveiling ceremony for the league was attended by KSCA president Prasad, secretary Santosh Menon, league chair MS Keshava, spokesperson Vinay Mruthyunjaya, franchise owners, and other distinguished guests.

Rahul Dravid's son Anvay in India U19 team

NEW DELHI: Legendary batter Rahul Dravid's younger son Anvay Dravid was included in India's Under-19 squad for the tour of Sri Lanka, starting July 4. The BCCI's Junior Cricket Committee on Thursday picked the India Men's U19 squads for the upcoming tour of Sri Lanka, comprising three one-day matches and two multi-day games. Yashbardhan Singh Chauhan will lead the one-day and multi-day teams and Lakshya Raichandani os his deputy in both squads. Anvay features in the One-day squad as one of the two wicket-keeping options alongside Rajat Baghel.

Afghanistan A prevail over India A by 4 runs

DAMBULLA (SRI LANKA): Afghanistan A caused a major upset by eking out a four-run win over star-studded India A via the Duckworth-Lewis-Stern (DLS) method in a rain-marred tri-nation series match on Thursday. Due to persistent rain intervals, Afghanistan A's target was revised to 294 runs from 38 overs Following an explosive start, Afghanistan kept themselves in the hunt. Then, at 177/2 in 25.5 another spell of rain stopped play. At that stage of the game, Afghanistan were found to be four runs ahead of the par score requirement, which sealed their victory.

APPLE
INTRODUCES SMARTER SIRI AI, NEW CHILD SAFETY FEATURES

Apple Intelligence will also bring new AI-powered features to apps such as Photos, Safari, Messages, Mail, etc.

RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

APPLE has unveiled a major set of software updates at its annual Worldwide Developers Conference (WWDC26), including a new AI-powered Siri, stronger parental controls, and several performance improvements for all its devices.

The company said the updates will bring the next generation of Apple Intelligence and a redesigned virtual assistant called Siri AI, which is expected to be more intelligent, knowledgeable, and capable than previous versions.

Apple also announced updates for iOS 27, iPadOS 27, macOS 27, watchOS 27, visionOS 27, and tvOS 27, aimed at making devices faster, more responsive, and easier to use.

Siri AI gets major upgrade

Apple said Siri AI has been built with a privacy focused design and will work on iPhone, iPad, Mac, Apple Watch, and Apple Vision Pro devices.

The upgraded assistant can understand a user's personal context and search information from messages, emails, photos, and other content. It can perform tasks across apps, answer questions about content displayed on the screen, and search the web for the latest information.

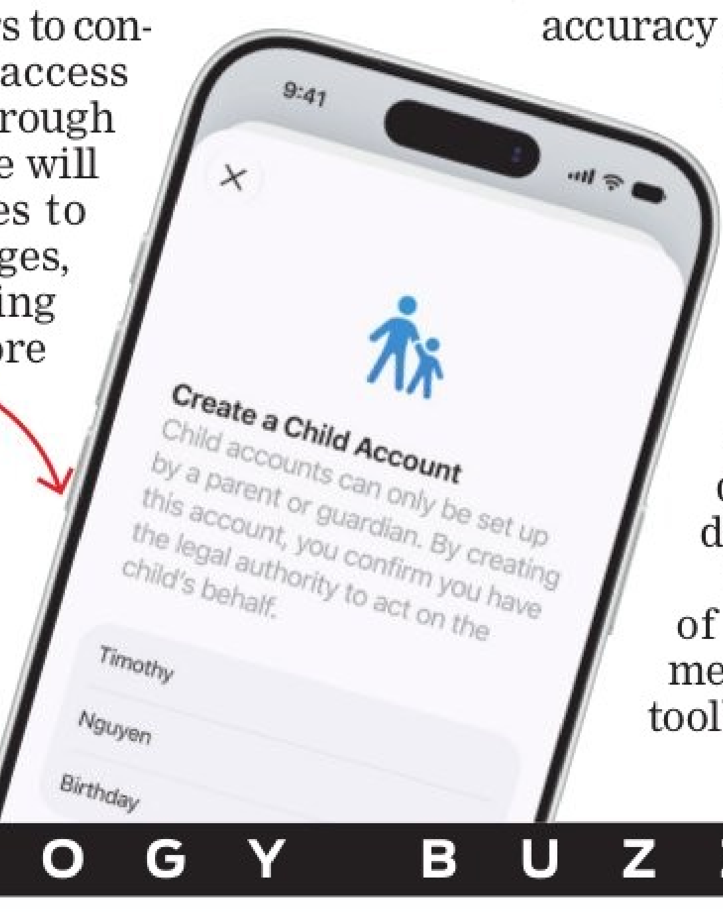
A dedicated Siri app will allow users to continue previous conversations and access their chat history across devices through iCloud. Apple said Apple Intelligence will also bring new AI-powered features to apps such as Photos, Safari, Messages, Mail, and Image Playground, helping users complete everyday tasks more efficiently.

New tools for parents

Apple has introduced new parental control features designed to create a safer digital experience for children.

Parents will be able to set up child accounts with age-appropriate protections, choose which apps their children can access, and control future app downloads. Under the new communication safety features, parents can approve new contacts and receive safeguards when explicit or violent content is shared.

The company is also introducing new screen-time management tools. Parents can set daily limits for categories such as entertainment, gaming, and social media. Apple said the recommended limits are based on guidance from child development and health experts.



Create a Child Account

Child accounts can only be set up by a parent or guardian. By creating this account, you confirm you have the legal authority to act on the child's behalf.

Faster, better

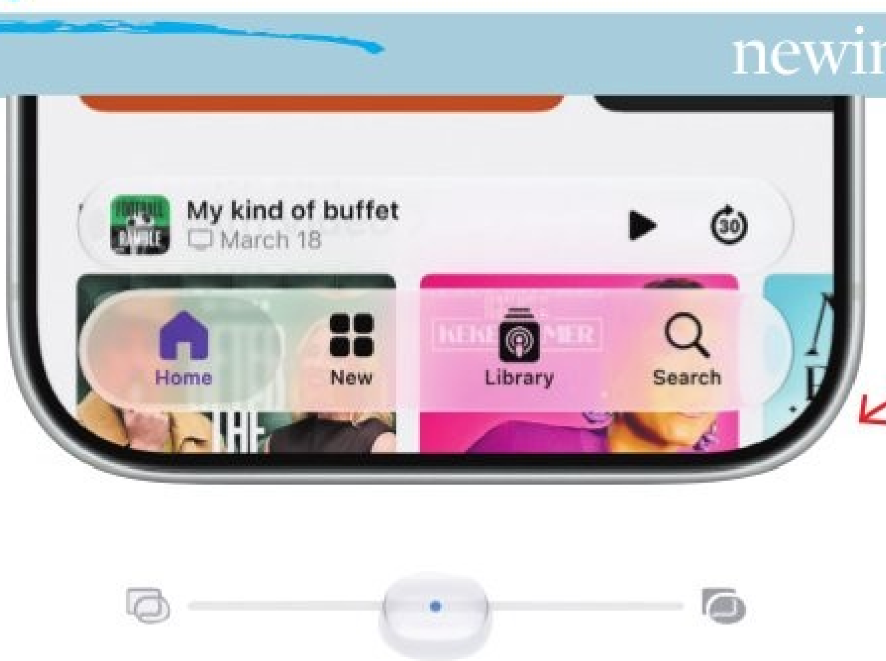
Apple said the upcoming software updates will improve speed and performance across its products.

According to the company, apps on iPhone and iPad can launch up to 30% faster, photos can load up to 70% faster after being taken, and AirDrop transfers can be up to 80% faster. File transfers between iPad and external drives will also be significantly quicker, while search functions in Spotlight, Photos, and Mail have been improved for better accuracy and efficiency.

Design and feature updates

The company is also introducing design improvements across its software platforms. Users will be able to customise the appearance of the Liquid Glass interface, while app icons have been updated to look sharper and more defined.

Mac users will see the return of several familiar design elements, including a more uniform toolbar and redesigned sidebars.



Availability

1

The new features are available for developer testing starting today, while a public beta version will be released next month.

2

Apple plans to roll out the software updates as free downloads later this year.

I found 30 photos from your trip to Shasta last weekend.

3

Siri AI will initially be available in beta for users with supported devices set to English, with support for additional languages to be introduced later. Apple said some features may not be available in all regions and will be rolled out in line with local regulations.

Anthropic unveils Claude Mythos 5 for partners, Fable 5 for public users

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ @Bengaluru

ARTIFICIAL intelligence company Anthropic has launched two versions of its new AI model, making Claude Fable 5 available to the general public while restricting access to Claude Mythos 5 to selected partners.

The company announced the models on June 9, saying Fable 5 includes additional safeguards while Mythos 5, which is based on the same underlying architecture, will initially be available to organisations participating in its Project Glasswing programme.

According to Anthropic, Fable 5 is designed to handle most user requests, but queries involving areas such as cybersecurity, biology and chemistry are redirected to an older model, Claude Opus 4.8. The company said the approach was intended to provide access to higher levels of AI capability while limiting risks associated with misuse.

"We wanted to be able to provide this level of intelligence for general users in a safe manner," said Dianne Penn, Anthropic's head of product management, research and labs. Mythos 5 carries fewer restrictions and is being offered to a limited group of trusted organisations, mainly through Project Glasswing, which focuses on cybersecurity applications. Anthropic said access would be expanded gradually through a trust-based programme.

The split release reflects a wider trend among AI companies, which are introducing different levels of access for businesses and consumers as concerns over safety and misuse continue to grow. OpenAI, Google and xAI have also adopted staged releases and restrictions around some capabilities, particularly in areas considered sensitive. AI developers have faced increasing scrutiny from governments, researchers and businesses over the risks posed by more capable models.

Anthropic's latest release has also drawn debate within the AI community. Some researchers criticised an earlier policy that reduced the model's performance on certain AI research tasks without informing users.

TECHNOLOGY BUZZ

POVA 8 launched in India with massive 8000mAh battery

POVA 8 was officially launched in India, bringing a bold mix of futuristic design, powerful performance and next-generation connectivity. At the heart of the device is the ALIVE Matrix, an interactive rear lighting system that responds to music, notifications, and touch, turning the smartphone into a statement piece. Inspired by cyberpunk aesthetics, POVA 8 is designed for users who want technology that stands out. The smartphone packs a massive 8000mAh battery with 45W fast charging, ensuring all-day power for gaming, streaming, and multitasking. Its triple-chipset architecture, featuring dedicated G1 and SE1 signal chips, delivers stronger connectivity and supports 20 5G bands for a more reliable network experience. Available in 16-Bit White and Terminal Green, POVA 8 starts at ₹29,999 and includes a complimentary 3-month Google AI Pro subscription.
